Duke of Kent Arrives on Air Tour

Air Commodore H.R.H. Duke of Kent.

When the Duke of Kent, in his position as Air Commodore, arrived at Patricia Bay this afternoon to inspect air, naval and military establishments here, it was his third visit to Victoria, his fourth to the Pacific coast.

He was first here in November, 1926, arriving from the Orient aboard the steamer Empress of Russia. The following year, in August, he arrived with the then Prince of Wales, now Duke of Windsor, and in August, 1928, came to the coast to join H.M.S. Durban.

The 27 hours which the Duke will spend in Victoria are perhaps the busiest of his whole whirlwind tour of Canada. After inspection of the R.C.A.F. station this afternoon, he goes to Government House, where a semi-official dinner party is arranged.

His program tomorrow is as follows: 10.30, leave Government House for a reception at Western Air Command headquarters, Belmont Building, at 11; 12.30, luncheon at Union Club, tendered by senior air, naval and army officials, and government representatives; 2.30, leave Union Club for Naval Barracks for inspection and march past at 2.45; 4, leave Naval Barracks for inspection of Work Point Military Barracks at 4.10; 6, return to Government House; 6.30, leave Government House for Patricia Bay, from which he will depart shortly after 7.15.

With them are the following R.C.A.F. officers: Wing Commander L. E. Wray, conducting the tour, formerly O.C. at Patricia Bay; Flight Lieut. R. E. Waller, treasurer officer; Flight Lieut. W. J. Brodribb, secretarial assistant and Air Commodore A. Earl Godfrey, O.C. Western Air Command, acting as A.D.C.

The Duke's plane is piloted by Squadron Leader H. M. Kennedy, with F.O. E. P. Matthews as co-pilot and carries the dual standard. It is a Lockheed twin-engine machine of the communications type, with aluminum body and red trimmings.

Two other aircraft accompany the Duke's plane, one in charge of Flight Lieut. R. B. Middleton with F.O. E. H. Pritchard as co-pilot, and the other in charge of Flight Lieut. H. O. Madden with F.O. W. R. Lavery as co-pilot.

Carrying the Duke from Patricia Bay to the city and in his other visits is the Buick limousine owned by Mrs. Ross Palmer of Comox which was used for the Royal visit here in 1939.

Thailand Prepares To Fight Japs

Canadian and Associated Press
Britain expects little Thailand to resist any Japanese invasion. British aid in such event will hinge on the willingness of the United States to co-operate in strong measures, an authoritative source said in London.

The implication was that the United States must be willing to co-operate in more than an economic blockade of Japan if Britain is to give strong backing to Thailand.

That British, Australian and India forces were making ready for any Japanese thrust into Thailand—which might be either or both a threat to Singapore or the Burma Road lifeline of the Chungking Chinese government—was indicated by a Reuters agency dispatch from Singapore.

ALL PREPARED
Quoting the Singapore office of the Ministry of Information, it said that in Burma and south China "all preparations are ready to smash any Japanese attempt to cut the Burma Road or move farther westward."

Thailand is in a "position of danger," a British informant said. Thailand's army numbers only 50,000, and its equipment is limited, but its air force "makes up in quality what it lacks in size."

The London informant said Japan had 50,000 troops in southern Indo-China, and was occupying eight Indo-Chinese airfields, one 700 miles from Singapore, and another less than 250 miles from Bangkok.

WOULD CONTROL
The United States government, it was learned in Washington, believes Japan's pressure bid for control of Thailand is part of a well-patterned Axis plan to seize control of the oceans and thereby dominate the world.

The latest Japanese moves were described as dovetailing perfectly with German demands on Vichy for military and naval bases in French colonial possessions, particularly at Dakar.

All evidence available, an informed source stated, points to a co-ordinated drive by Germany to control all strategic bases in the Atlantic, while Japan seizes similar objectives in the Pacific.

JAPS ANNOYED
The Japanese board of information claimed Japan desires to maintain friendly relations with Thailand and considers unwarranted the Hull and Eden statements.

The board charged that reports in United States and British newspapers indicating Japan was threatening Thailand tended "to worsen the feeling of the Japanese toward Britain and the United States."

It declared at the same time that press dispatches from the Far East reported British forces in Malaya may occupy Thai bases. Informed sources in Tokyo indicated there was little doubt Japan would weigh carefully any further action in southeastern Asia now that so much attention has been focused on that area.

Reports of Russian military movements in Siberia appeared to concern the Japanese more than developments in the south-east. One newspaper estimated Russian forces in eastern Siberia at 800,000 soldiers.

GERMANS ARE NOW MASSACRING PRISONERS ON CAPTURE, through frenzy and fear of guerrilla attacks, according to reports which are beginning to circulate widely. Russians, on the other hand, are bringing back their Nazi prisoners "alive" and here they send another picture to prove it. This shows German and Rumanian officers who fell into Red Army hands when the Hitler blitzkrieg fizzled behind schedule.

Final Bulletins

Reds Liquidate Nazi Parachutists

MOSCOW (AP) — A German attack by air-borne light tanks and a large force of parachutists has been "liquidated" by the defenders of Smolensk, on the road to Moscow, and the city was still in Russian hands five days ago, according to a letter published here today.

The letter was written by a Red fighter to his father. It pictured the three-week siege of Smolensk as the greatest battle thus far in the Russian-German conflict.

The letter did not say just how the light tanks were landed, but declared the Germans were wiped out before they could gain a foothold in the city. The letter was said to have been brought out of Smolensk by hand, indicating the road to Moscow was still in Russian control.

U.S. Draftees Must Serve Army Longer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With administration forces in command, the United States Senate voted today to keep army selectees, national guardsmen, reserves and enlisted men in uniform 18 months beyond their present active service periods.

After beating off a Republican-sponsored attempt to limit the extra duty requirement to one year, the chamber adopted an amendment by Senator Elbert Thomas (Dem., Utah) to pending legislation fixing the maximum service liability at 2½ years, instead of the present one year. Men who enlisted for three years could be retained 4½ years. The vote was 44 to 28.

Ordered to Work

NEW YORK (AP) — Walkouts involving C.I.O. and A.F.L. unionists halted work on naval and merchant ships in four big east coast yards today, but C.I.O. workers at two of the yards quickly were ordered to return to their jobs by their own leaders.

Typhoid in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, 77, of suburban Scarborough Junction, died in hospital last night after contracting typhoid last Tuesday. An outbreak of seven cases of the disease occurred at the same time at a market garden in Scarborough where all the victims either worked or lived. Mrs. Scott's death is the only one reported.

Are There Any Left?

By Associated Press
The Nazi high command's communiques are just about annihilating the entire Russian army. To earlier claims of 3,000,000 Russians killed, Berlin communiques today claim, on the Smolensk front alone, 310,000 Russian prisoners, 3,205 tanks and 3,180 artillery pieces captured.

Nazis said the Russians lost 1,098 planes in the Smolensk battle and an "unsurveyable amount of other war materials."

Quorum Lacking So Commons Quits

LONDON (CP) — Parliament recessed today until September. A drab sitting came to a sudden ending when it was discovered the necessary quorum of 40 members was not present.

During a debate on agricultural wages, a member called the speaker's attention to the fact there was not 40 members present. The speaker ordered a count taken and when it was found there was no quorum, the House adjourned.

Sicily Raided

CAIRO (AP) — A successful raid on the submarine base at Augusta, on the Italian island of Sicily, by British naval planes Tuesday night was announced today by the Royal Air Force's Middle East command.

Heavy bombs, dropped from low altitude, scored many direct hits and one touched off "a very large oil fire on a submarine jetty," the communique said.

Finn Consul Goes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Helge Ekengren who has been Finnish consul, vice-consul and consular secretary here for the past 14 years, officially closed his consulate offices today.

In Montreal, doors of the Finnish consulate general were locked today as consular officials complied quickly with a Canadian government request for closing of the office-terminating direct relations between the two countries.

Kaarlo Kuusamo, the consul-general, said he had telegraphed to Helsinki for instructions as to his next move but had received no reply as yet.

Fall Kills Miner

CADOMIN, Alta. (CP)—Harry Lane, 43-year-old miner at the Cadomin mines, was killed when he fell 100 feet down a coal chute while working in the mine yesterday. Cause of the accident is not known. Cadomin is about 187 miles southwest of Edmonton.

4 U.S. TANKERS GO TO RUSSIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Jakes, Defence Petroleum Administrator, announced today four United States tankers are being turned over to Russia to transport aviation gasoline.

These transfers might contribute to a limited general petroleum shortage in west coast areas, he said.

Albani Flier

OTTAWA (CP) — Among a group of pilots who received their wings today from Group Capt. W. A. Curtis, officer commanding the No. 2 service flying training school at nearby Uplands airport was J. Moul, Port Alberni, B.C.

Crash Landing

SPOKANE (AP)—Cruising for nearly an hour above Felt's Field, its landing gear jammed, a B-25 United States army bomber made a successful "crash" landing during the night. A crew of four was uninjured, and there was only slight damage to the plane.

CHURCHILL, HOPKINS—ARE THEY FLYING FOR VISIT WITH F.D.R.?—As the entire world speculated on reports that Winston Churchill and Harry L. Hopkins were flying to an unrevealed destination for a conference with President Roosevelt, this picture of Churchill and Hopkins inspecting a bomber in Britain arrives by Clipper. Note the "V" for victory at left. President Roosevelt is aboard his yacht Potomac, off the eastern coast.

Wants to Know

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Cordell Hull indicated today United States relations with the Vichy government depended more on French action in defending French territory than on assurances just received from Vichy.

He has received a French note substantially along the lines reported in press dispatches from Vichy.

Asked whether these new assurances were satisfactory, Hull said he still wished to know more about what was going on in Vichy.

The French note was reported to have expressed Vichy's intentions of defending the empire in its own way.

Clash Stories Denied

MOSCOW (AP) — The official news agency, Tass, said today it was authorized to deny reports Japanese and Russian troops had clashed near the Amur River or elsewhere.

(On Tuesday a Japanese military spokesman at Shanghai said that there had been a minor clash near Manchuli, northwestern Manchukuo, near the Siberian border.)

Duncan Council

DUNCAN—All members of the council were present at the meeting held Tuesday evening, Mayor E. Lee presiding. Alderman Greig and the city clerk were appointed to draw up resolutions to forward to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention, to be held September 23-24 at Harrison Hot Springs. A request from the insurance committee of the Union of B.C. Municipalities for statistics re municipal insurance, has been compiled with and reported on. Messrs. Whitmore and Company gave details of reductions in board company insurance rates in recent months. Cowichan Chapter Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire wrote stating that they will not hold a rose tag day this year. A letter of sympathy in regard to his illness will be sent to Alex Maclean, Victoria, who is at present in hospital.

The poverty and distress committee reported considerable increase in charges for social service, such as T.B. cases, neglected children and incurables, which would affect the estimates for the year.

Messrs. Wilson and Cabellu were awarded the contract for painting fire trucks, at a cost of $136. The parking by-law amendment was given the final reading, and prohibits parking on the southwest side of Government Street. Accounts totaling $5,051.41 were passed for payment.

Award Rejected

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of John Wood (Vancouver) Limited, large metal-working concern, said today they had "rejected temporarily" an arbitration board award recommending wage increases to employees, "until we have had a chance to give it further consideration."

Employees voted last night to accept the award, but a notice posted in the plant said today that the company had found the award not acceptable "in its present form."

Australia Controls Coal Output

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Wide control over production and distribution of coal throughout the Commonwealth, including the power to requisition any or all coal mines if necessary, is vested in the Australian government by regulations announced today by Prime Minister Menzies.

The first step will be appointment of a general productions manager whose duties will be to

5 Crash Victims' Progress Fair

Condition of five people injured in a car crash near the 17-mile post at Sooke early yesterday morning was given by St. Joseph's Hospital officials this afternoon as follows:

Gerald Spark, a sailor, 426 Walter Avenue, Saanich, who suffered a fractured skull and numerous lacerations, fairly good.

David Lister, 439 Walter Avenue, who suffered a fractured skull and cuts and bruises, satisfactory.

Joseph Spark, driver of car, 426 Walter Avenue, fractured skull, broken nose and cuts and bruises on the face, satisfactory.

Miss Florence Harper, 488 Admirals Road, who sustained a broken nose and contusions to the chest and face, fairly good.

Miss Beverly Lane, 725 Couper Avenue, who suffered a back injury and bruises to the face and ankle, good.

The car in which the five were riding which is believed to have run off the road and crashed into a stump, was damaged in the front to the extent of about $400.

The front left fender was practically torn off, the radiator smashed and pushed back into the engine which was damaged also and the frame of the car was twisted. One window was broken and a steel bar across the roof was bent presumably by the head of one of the riders in the front seat. The back of the front seat was bent from what appeared to be throwing of one of the back seat occupants against it by the impact.

Messrs. Wilson and Cabellu were awarded the contract for painting fire trucks, at a cost of $136. The parking by-law amendment was given the final reading, and prohibits parking on the southwest side of Government Street. Accounts totaling $5,051.41 were passed for payment.

Hambers Receive Gifts From City Council

Mrs. Hamber fastens on her gold bracelet.

"We always shall have a soft spot in our hearts for Victoria, and always shall feel that Victoria is our home city as well as Vancouver," Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber declared yesterday at a farewell civic luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

"It is difficult to find words to adequately express our appreciation of the way the people of Victoria have assisted us," he said.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber were presented with an engraved silver cigarette box and an inscribed gold bracelet respectively by the City Council. Mayor Andrew McGavin made the presentations.

"We hope you will wear this bracelet sometimes," the mayor told Mrs. Hamber, "and when you do, remember it was given with our kindest thoughts. We hope it may keep green in your memory the years you spent among us in Victoria."

"I'll certainly have wonderful memories when I think back," Mrs. Hamber replied, "and I thank you very sincerely."

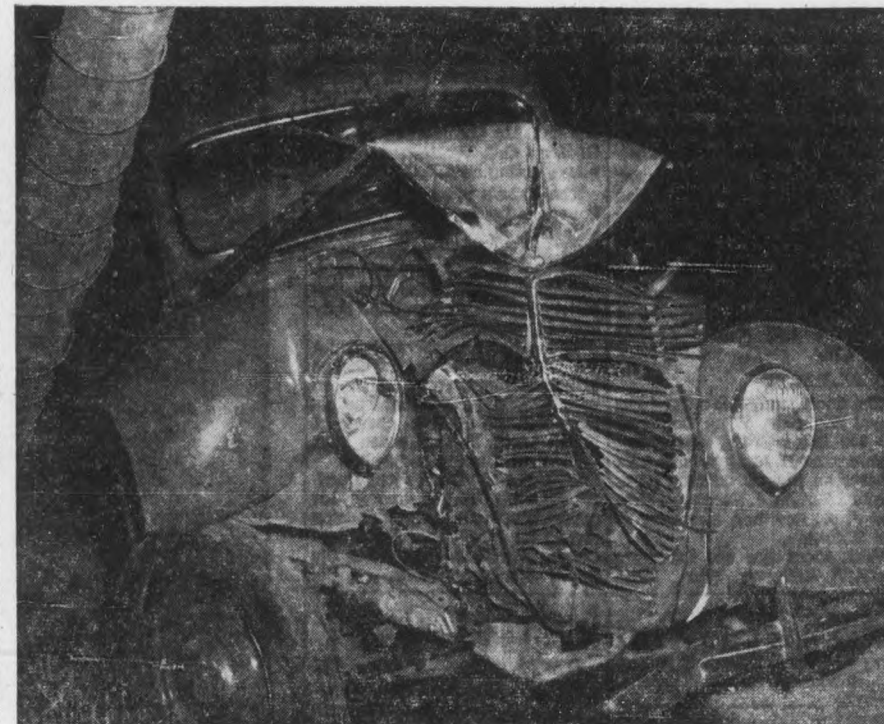

"You have filled your post with credit to yourself and honor to the province," Mayor McGavin said to Mr. Hamber. "It is a long time since we had a Lieutenant-Governor with such a genial nature and at the same time such an understanding of the requirements of the position you have held."

"With these gifts to you both go our sincere thanks for the way in which you always have assisted the city council in an official way. Whenever you happen to look at these small offerings of ours you will be reminded that the members of the Victoria City Council were conscious of the debt they owed for your many kindnesses."

"Whatever you do and wherever you go, you may be assured of this, you will have our best wishes and kindest thoughts."

Head-on Crash Wreck

Two persons are in hospital today as the result of a head-on crash outside the new Windsor Auto Court on Gorge Road at 11 last night.

In hospital are Robert Wall, 3049 Earl Grey Street, driver of the wrecked car shown in the picture, and Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, 2024 Carnovan Street, a passenger in the other car in the accident, which was driven by Jeremiah Blyth, a sailor, Coombs, B.C.

Blyth was charged in City Police Court today with dangerous driving as the result of the smash-up and was remanded until tomorrow after he pleaded not guilty. The car he was driving, a heavier model than the Wall car, was not as badly damaged.

Mr. Wall was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by a C. and C. ambulance where he was attended by Dr. A. C. Sinclair for an injured skull, possibly fractured, and painfully injured ribs.

Mrs. Cooper, attended by Dr. T. W. A. Gray, was taken to Jubilee Hospital in the city police ambulance by Constable Tom Banister and W. Elliott, suffering from lacerations of the nose and contusions of the chest as well as numerous bruises.

Police said the Wall car was traveling west on Gorge Road and Blyth was driving east when the head-on crash occurred.

In the Blyth car in addition to the driver and Mrs. Cooper were Arthur J. Hicks, a sailor off one of His Majesty's Canadian ships, and Archibald Wilson, 415 William Street, who were not injured.

TRAFFIC JAM

The accident took place at a time when traffic from both directions was heavy. Cars jammed the road for about four blocks on the wide pavement and made it difficult for police and ambulance drivers to get to the injured.

Four city policemen were rushed from town to clear the road. In several instances motorists left their cars after parking them in the middle of the street which added to the difficulties of removing the injured. Among a large crowd of spectators which gathered were several pyjama-clad guests from the auto court in front of which the crash occurred.

Bruno Mussolini Dies In Airplane Crash

Bruno in war plane.

ROME (AP)—Bruno Mussolini, 22, second son of Premier Mussolini, was killed today near Pisa, in northern Italy, when his plane he was testing crashed.

"This morning Capt. Bruno Mussolini died gloriously near Pisa following an accident in the flight of an experimental plane," said the official announcement.

IN SPAIN

In 1937 Bruno was in active service as a pilot for insurgent armies in Spain. He and the squadron of 23 bombers which accompanied him was believed to have made the first raid on the capital of the Spanish government at Valencia.

Mussolini sent his son to the war with parental blessing. Bruno has always been pointed out as one of the foremost exponents of his father's motto, "live dangerously."

In connection with an exploit of Bruno's in 1937, Father Benito remarked, "Bruno is an idealist and I let him do what he wants—in fact I approve of it."

Bruno was a veteran of the Italo-Ethiopian war and was awarded a medal for his work as a pilot in the drive against Addis Ababa.

Last December Bruno was reported killed in Greece.

MARRIED

He was married in 1938 to Gina Ruberti. They had one child, Marina, now 17 months old. The death leaves Premier Mussolini with four children, Countess Edda Ciano, 30, wife of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano; Anna Maria, 11; Vittorio, 24, and Romano, 13.

The Italian radio announcer called Bruno "one of the most representative members of Fascist youth."

He showed "a high sense of sacrifice as a volunteer fighter in Spain's anti-Bolshevik war," the announcer added.

SON OF WOLF

When he was eight years old Bruno Mussolini, reared in the Fascist pattern of the "Sons of the Wolf," was inducted into the National Balilla, where boys learn the handling of a rifle and marching routine.

The next year he and his older brother, Vittorio, were taken for a ride in a seaplane and when Bruno was 10 he was making frequent flights. He obtained his pilot's license when he was 16.

When Fascist Italy started its aggressions in 1935 Bruno and Vittorio were ready for combat in the air and became officers in East Africa.

The desperate squadron to which they belonged boasted of killing about 2,000 Ethiopians in one attack alone.

Bruno once made plans—never carried out—for a nonstop flight from San Francisco to Rome. Instead of flying the Atlantic, Bruno went to the Olympic games in Berlin. Next year, he finished third in a 3,840-mile plane race from Istres to Damascus and Paris. In 1938 he made a South Atlantic flight to Brazil.

'Movie Attack' On Mannheim

German Cities and Coast Ports
Pounded Ceaselessly by R.A.F.LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force reported today successful raids on industrial centres of western Germany and shipping off the Netherlands coast.From the wide-ranging operations yesterday and last night 10 planes were lost.It was indicated the assault was renewed on northern France today.As on Tuesday night, last night's attacks were centred on Frankfurt, Mannheim and Karlsruhe in a continuation of the methodical pounding of German targets, and a communique reported "huge fires were started and a considerable weight of bombs were dropped on each city." These raids cost eight planes.The Air Ministry said that Blenheim bombers "searching for enemy shipping in daylight yesterday" attacked a destroyer-protected convoy off the Netherlands coast and "after the attack one ship was seen to be down by the stern with smoke pouring from it."During the night an airdrome in German-held Norway was attacked and "an enemy vessel" torpedoed off the Norwegian coast by a British plane.Six German planes were destroyed in the last 24 hours, five fighters by R.A.F. fighters in a series of sweeps yesterday and a sixth fighter by a British bomber which it attacked over Germany last night.In other attacks last night, hangars of an enemy airdrome in northern France were set afire and bombs dropped on runways.
Docks at Calais were blasted.British day raiders, carrying out the round-the-clock schedule of air assaults, made a big sweep over the Channel and northern France today. Several waves of Rabindranath Tagore,

'Lord of Light', Dead at 80CALCUTTA, India (AP)— Rabindranath Tagore, 80, who recently underwent an operation, died here today.(Victoria Saw Tagore in May, 1929, when he arrived from the Orient by S.S. Empress of Asia.
He lectured at the Royal Victoria Theatre, under National Council of Education auspices.)(When he left here he had trouble with U.S. immigration authorities at Blaine. He felt he had been subjected to an unnecessarily vigorous questioning, later explaining, "I have no bitterness against the American people, but I must say that the immigration regulations against and the manner of application towards eastern and colored people are uncivilized and barbarous.")Rabindranath Tagore, India's greatest man of letters in modern times, exerted a world-spanning influence.To millions he was a writer of beautiful lyrics. But his poetry was only a token of his immense range and variety. Skilful in drama and narrative he was also a novelist, artist, lecturer, social reformer and educator.He wrote and set to music the almost incredible number of about 3,000 songs and wrote 30 volumes of poetry.Few outside his native province of Bengal knew of him until he won the Nobel Prize of 1913.His prize recognition inspired translations from many of his writings into multiple tongues;
he was a best-seller both in west and east. Tagore himself criss-crossed Europe and the Americas reciting and lecturing.

The seer-poet had both political planes crossed toward Calais, Dunkirk and Ostend.Gale Sends Bombers

In at High SpeedIn the raid Tuesday night on Frankfurt, Mannheim and Karlsruhe the British bombers were whirled along by a gale that made them as fast as fighters.Fires were left raging and the attack on Mannheim was particularly severe. Here, one explosion was so effective it lighted up clouds at 8,000 feet. At Ludwigshafen, across the river, bombs smashed a large chemical factory, and another great explosion occurred. Flames leaped hundreds of feet into the air.At Karlsruhe a large factory was destroyed and fires roared in railway yards and industrial areas as the bombers headed for home. Another large explosion appeared to be from a burning ammunition dump.Movie Scene Comes to LifeIn the attack on Mannheim the men who played leads in a British documentary film, "Target for Tonight," staged a real-life repetition of their movie raid.Three of the crew who, in the Ministry of Information picture, flew to their objective, "Freinhausen," in what they called an
"F" for Freddie Wellington bomber, were together again, dropping real bombs across the Mannheim docks and raking objectives on the way home with machine-gun fire."I have never had a trip like it before," said the pilot. "You could see hedges, roads, even the smallest streams and railway lines."At one time we counted at least 12 flares in the air, and you could see other bombers were at work farther away."We laid our bombs across the docks and then, coming home, gave the two gunners a night out."Low Level Attack On Rail Station"First, we had a shot at the railway station in a fair-size town just west of Mannheim. We went down to 500 feet to wake up the station master and give the gunners some exercise.""There were three rows of trucks (railway cars) on the siding, and some had houses beside them. We raked them with fire from both turrets. The station had a glass roof and we made a mess of it, you could see the bullets smashing the glass.""As soon as we began to fire, the Germans started on us with pom-poms, so we thought we would get along to the next place.""We found some goods yards and warehouses in another town and machine-gunned them from 300 feet.""All the time we were in Germany the gunners kept calling to me whenever they saw a town,
'there's a likely-looking place,' and 'there must be a railroad station there.'""But we had to save our ammunition in case we met fighters so after the second town we came quietly home."In Tuesday's daylight sorties an airdrome near Cherbourg, two tankers off the French coast, a motor torpedo boat and a coastal radio station were among the targets. Approximately a dozen Nazis planes on the ground of an airfield were attacked with machine-gun and cannon fire, and a Nazi fighter that rose to the challenge was shot down. Two escorting Nazi fighters were downed later when the R.A.F. attacked Nazi tankers, leaving smoke rising from one of the ships.United States in 1916. His school,

'Good Warriors Attack'Five reasons why United States should join England in the war on Nazi Germany are given by LORD BEAVER-BROOK, Minister of Supply in the British war cabinet, in a signed article which will appear in the October issue of the American Magazine. They are:
"First, Hitler plans a world conquest, not for the first time in world history, but certainly on a bigger scale than ever before.""Second, Britain is the last line of defence and everything depends on Britain's command of the seas.""Third, if the British navy falls, the sure and certain invasion must follow forthwith.""Fourth, all good warriors go forth to meet the foe.""Fifth, lines of defence always fall in modern warfare."Lord Beaverbrook's statement, which further supports his contentions through a parable drawn from an experience of his youth, concludes with this advice:"Bold plans are needed to destroy bad men."

Astrologer Says

'Hitler on Downgrade,' Russia Move MistakeCLEVELAND (CP)—For a man who has consistently patronized astrologers, Adolf Hitler is getting few breaks from the students of the stars.Leaders of the American Federation of Scientific Astrologers, which is in annual convention here, generally were agreed his star is setting."Hitler's move on Russia was a great mistake," declared Louis de Wohl, Hungarian astro-philosopher and author attending the meeting.The German high command decided May 11 to attack Russia
the same date Rudolf Hess landed in Scotland, de Wohl asserted."This is significant," de Wohl said, "because Dr. H. Spencer-Jones, British astronomer, scoff-ingly remarked in 1938 that if there was anything to astrology, its students should be able to predict important events for May 11, 1941."Hitler is on the downgrade."
The turning point came when Germany marched into Czechoslovakia in March, 1939. We can't predict a date for his defeat, but if the United States enters the war before next spring he is doomed."President Roosevelt's horoscope is perfectly beautiful," he added. "He towers above all others. A Yogi once told me a man born on the date Hitler came into power would cause his downfall. Hitler rose to power velt's birthday date."some northeast coast towns after gun bullets from a low altitude.

When Truck StallsYUMA, Ariz. (AP)—A heart-rending story of watching five relatives and two friends die one by one of heat and thirst in the Sonora desert, 35 miles south of here, was told here by Miss Socorro Cornejo, 19, one of two survivors of the ordeal.The girl and Francisco Flores, 23, recovering in a hospital here, said they had slashed their wrists in attempts to sustain life by drinking their own blood.The tragedy came to light when an itinerant Mexican peddler came upon the seven bodies and two survivors six days after their truck ran out of gasoline in a desolate stretch of sand dunes on El Camino del Diablo—The Devil's Highway.The group had started from Santa Ana, Sonora, for Mexicali, after a visit with relatives. Why they chose the dangerous, abandoned stage road south of the border rather than crossing into the United States at Nogales, was not explained, but it was believed some members of the party could not meet immigration requirements.

CHILD DIES FIRST

Miss Cornejo said her four-year-old niece, Elisa Flores, was the first to die after the party's supply of food and water gave out. The next day Domingo Rocha succumbed, followed by her brothers, Elias and Rafael Cornejo, and her father, German Cornejo. Two other men, picked up by the party en route, Tomas Ponce and a man known only as Yocupicio, were last to die.The gasoline supply was exhausted when the party was 17 miles from San Luis, across the border from here, the girl related.
They had two 10-gallon cans of water and a small canteen, but the cans fell from the truck and burst. Their food consisted largely of oranges and bananas, and was pitifully inadequate after the two extra men joined the party.

STAYED BY FAMILY

"I saw no mirages," the girl said. "I stayed by the truck and kept quiet, even after the baby died. Some of the others became crazy for water and saw mirages.
I knew there was no water. Later
I screamed and cried, but there was no one near to hear. I wanted to stay with my folks, even though they were dead."Flores told of removing his clothing and hanging it over bushes in an attempt to make a little shade from the summer sun which creates temperatures of 110 degrees. He was en route from his home in Durango, Mex., to Mexicali to pick cotton.2 Nazis Downed Over BritainLONDON (CP)—A pair of Nazis planes was destroyed in light German attacks over east and southeast England during the night, the Ministries of Air and Home Security reported. A few persons were injured and slight damage was done at a few points.

British May Have
Blown Up 'Big Bertha'LONDON (CP)—The Daily Mail said today a British landing party may have crossed the Channel recently, and that this might explain a great saucer-shaped crater which Dover observers say has appeared on the French-occupied coast.The newspaper said the crater is approximately on the site of a German long-range gun emplacement.The crater, in a low-lying section of the coast, east of Cap Gris Nez, near the village of Strouann, "almost certainly was caused since last weekend," the Mail said.
"It is being linked with a big explosion heard early Monday morning when the Channel was lit momentarily by a flash from the direction of France. There were none of the usual signs of a Royal Air Force attack at the time on that stretch of coast.""Speculation about the cause of the explosion has produced three theories. The first credits the job to saboteurs and the second to the shelling of gun emplacements from the sea.""The third theory is that a landing party may have crossed the Channel."VICTORIA'S

Our Royal Visitor

IT IS SCARCELY NECESSARY FOR US to assure Air Commodore Kent—as the King's youngest brother desires to be called in these stirring times—how happy Victorians and the people of Vancouver Island are to see him again. His visit on this occasion has a flavor all its own; His Royal Highness is attached to the service which trounced Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe so severely last summer and fall that the more serious aspects of the grave danger in which Britons stood in awe during the early days of the war no longer exist. The Royal Air Force commands Britain's skies; it is striking deeper day by day into the heart of the Hitlerian Reich; and Air Commodore Kent is now assuring himself of the manner in which Canada, through the vast and ever-expanding Empire Air Training Plan, intends to guarantee more and more "wings" for the job of casting still greater and much darker shadows over all enemy territory. From long experience and through its application in working form, our Royal visitor will be able to assess the practical value of everything he sees; he will inspect from a professional perspective. All will hope he will take back home with him an encouraging account of a most vital phase of Canada's contribution to the Empire's cause.

Hitler's Dream

BOTH RUSSIAN AND GERMAN COMMUNISM in the last few weeks have given the peoples of the world a greater variety of war "news" than they have had since the conflict began nearly two years ago. But Hitler and his propaganda experts enjoyed a field day yesterday; indeed, if half of the report of Russian losses announced from Berlin were to be taken as fact, it would be reasonable to suppose the men of Moscow by this time would be suing for peace. There is no prospect of anything of the kind; the battles Germany's D.N.B. publicity service had concluded so satisfactorily to itself are continuing this morning as briskly as ever. Not that the Soviet high command is under any delusion about the nature of the task confronting it; it nevertheless is obvious as the seventh week of the Battle for Russia draws to a close that Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev are not yet flying the swastika. That being the case, it is interesting to note the contents of the special German bulletin, issued and repeated over the Reich's radio yesterday. This comparison was made between the numbers of men and quantities of booty claimed as seized or destroyed by the Germans as of July 11 and inclusive of yesterday's toll:

	July 11	Aug. 6
Men	400,000	895,000
Tanks	7,615	13,145
Artillery	4,423	10,388
Airplanes	6,233	9,082

Just as staggering as the foregoing is the claim that Russian dead so far has reached the total of 3,000,000, which, including prisoners, D.N.B. extends to nearly 4,000,000. If the mortality figures were to be taken seriously—which they are not—it would appear that at least another 10,000,000 Russians should be written off as wounded, and consequently out of the combat areas.

In the light of yesterday's intensified propaganda, however, one is constrained to inquire what has happened inside Germany to require a belated re-hash of "colossal victories" announced three weeks ago by the German high command. Can it be that the facilities for hospitalization of Nazi wounded outside the Reich have now been exhausted, and that battered and maimed soldiers are being brought home in large numbers to Germany proper? One can but speculate. It will be plain to most people that even the regimented populace of Hitler's Reich are still in possession of faculties which permit them to indulge in the homely pastime of putting two and two together. And we have the assurances of neutral newspaper and radio commentators who have left Berlin, because they were expected to broadcast lies, that many Germans are doing this simple little sum. The interesting question is whether Hitler can deliver the real victories which his frantic propagandists—under his direction—already have scored in, time to stave off a winter campaign in the east.

What the Payroll Shows

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S DEPARTMENT of Labor's annual returns show that the province's payrolls in 1940 reached a total of $188,325,766, only a little short of the record established in 1929. While it is gratifying to know that so large a sum is in circulation in the province, the figures hold a greater significance than usual this year in that they constitute a yardstick by which can be judged one of the important phases of British Columbia's war effort.

Payrolls, barring minor fluctuations in wages, are a fair measure of the industrial activity of a country. It is safe to say that all of the $22,642,346 increase in the province's payrolls last year was brought about through the turning of much of the province's industrial effort into channels directly complementary to the national war effort. Nor does this constitute the full measure; a good deal of the normal peacetime payroll has been diverted along similar lines.

A glance at the list of individual industries bears out the foregoing. At the top, for instance, is the huge logging industry, comprising nearly a fifth of the total payroll. Loggers and lumber mills have been turning out timber at top speed for the benefit of Britain and the rest of the Empire. Their payrolls went up $4,581,175. Next in line is shipbuilding, almost dormant before the war, which increased by $2,461,896 through outlays on the construction of corvettes and other fighting ships for the navy. The metal trades, mostly engaged in one way or another with war orders, gained $1,502,857; pulp and paper payrolls were increased $1,489,776; and contracting going to $1,731,252; explosives and chemical manufacture $756,921; and the metal mines, turning out not only gold but the essential base metals which go directly into arms production, went up $949,609.

These are only a few phases of the war effort; but when one considers the negotiation, organization and essential readjustment to transforming industry of peacetime into the requirements of a complete war economy in all its aspects, the showing reflected in the Department of Labor's returns can be unhesitatingly described as excellent.

Shades of 1911?

ONE OF THE FIRST PLANKS IN THE Conservative Party's platform after the national convention, said House of Commons leader R. B. Hanson at Fort William, would be the retention of a policy of winning the war "rather than of swinging to the North American axis as I fear Mr. King is leading us."

Perhaps there are some good and intelligent Conservatives in Canada with sufficient imagination to interpret what Mr. Hanson meant by that part of his observation which appears above in quotation marks. We would naturally be under the impression an opposition party in convention assembled would desire to add its contribution to the winning of the war. But are we to assume that its leader will urge the party delegates to recapture the atmosphere of 1911 and declare for "no truck or trade with the Yankees"? Or has he buried deep down in his political bosom some dark plan that will, all in good time, produce a streamlined method by which the people of this country will be able to chart a course into the world to come without thought for any external considerations whatsoever? Does Mr. Hanson, by any chance, propose to win the war by telling the United States that her assistance is undermining—perhaps tainting—that brand of "loyalty" and "patriotism" by which a certain type of Conservative imperialism was known in days that are gone forever? Or did he really know what he was talking about when he figuratively shied at what he is pleased to call the "North American axis"? What ammunition for the Wheelers, the Nyes and the Lindberghs!

All we can suggest is that if the Conservatives of Canada want to put themselves entirely out of court as far as Canadian public opinion is concerned, if they want to reduce their following in the House of Commons to still more insignificant proportions—which heaven forbid for the country's sake as well as for the government's—Mr. Hanson is assuredly pointing the way to do it.

Notes

Ants may live as long as 10 years—and that's a lot of picnics.

One of our girls' colleges announces it will teach gunnery. It does not, however, list it on the curriculum under domestic science.

A famed sociologist thinks it pathetic that thousands of our young people are too poor to marry. Further gloomy statistics will reveal that they do, just the same.

The average life span of white persons on this continent is now 62.5 years, an increase of 3.3 years over the previous decade. Traffic deaths, however, continue to mount. Apparently our destiny is to live longer, but to die in the street instead of in bed.

UP TO US ALL

From Ottawa Citizen

In Australia, as in the United Kingdom, gasoline is rationed. The onus is upon the car owner to make the best possible use of a definitely-rationed amount of motor fuel. In Canada, under the policy of relying on everybody to do what is required voluntarily, the Dominion fuel controller is trying to use moral suasion. He is entitled to more help from the public.

Some people are loyally trying to comply with the fuel controller's call to Canada to cut down. After last Sunday, however, he said:

"Some persons seem to think the restrictions don't apply to them, that they can go running around burning up fuel as they did before. . . . The regulations can't prevent people using gasoline. It is up to the people how this thing works out. If what we are doing doesn't reduce the consumption of gasoline, something else will have to be done."

Ration cards are an additional expense in Britain and Australia, but the expense of rationing is considered to be better than the disabling effect of shortage to the fighting forces. The British people are intelligent, so are the Australians; both have introduced rationing. Canada will doubtless also turn to rationing, but present signs are that the government is waiting until conditions become worse before taking the necessary action.

FALSE LEGEND

IN THE ST. THOMAS TIMES-JOURNAL one observes the perpetuation of a false and familiar legend. "No man," says this deluded paper, "ever dared to advertise for a stenographer and ask that she be experienced and attractive. His wife would want to look into that; particularly if she had previously been his secretary."

This latter is a nice insinuation, but let it pass. The legend of the beautiful and dangerous secretary is the important thing to the student of manners and morals in America. Where this legend came from I do not know. Certainly not from the facts. Probably from the studios of Hollywood, which needed a new base for the old triangle. They therefore invented the beautiful stenographer, the foolish business man, the wronged wife, the ruined family and the glorious romance.

But all observation is against the theory that secretaries are beautiful and dangerous, employers foolish and weak. Even assuming the latter, that employers are all foolish after 40, the first assumption is disproved by the facts. In a fairly wide observation of business offices in most parts of America I have come to the opposite conclusion, namely, that most secretaries are homely and about as dangerous as a wheelbarrow traveling at three miles an hour; while most employers are far more interested in their lunch than in the lady who takes their dictation.

TOO DULL

IT IS NECESSARY, however, to invent legends about everything because the facts of life appear too dull to be faced. In our grandfathers' time the facts were found to be interesting enough, but even the titanic facts of our lifetime leave us quite cold. In a world full of the most incredible fantasies, all true, we have to resort to artificial fairy stories, of which the beautiful and seductive secretary is one.

Among other legends is the belief that all politicians are dishonest, all industrialists able and ruthless (when they are seldom either), all Americans rich, all women bound to become old maids if they don't use somebody's special toilet soap, and all girls sure to live happily ever afterwards if they shampoo their hair adequately.

There are as well peculiar national legends, like the current belief in Canada that Canadians always make a worse job of anything than the British or the Americans, and the astounding assumption, after what has happened in other nations, that Canadian politicians and parliaments are more stupid than those elsewhere.

There is the local village legend that we in Victoria are not so clever, vigorous or successful as the people of such cities as Vancouver, whereas, of course, we have accumulated more wealth per capita than any of them, enjoy a better life and are as hard-boiled and as selfish as they come anywhere.

There is the charming island legend of Duncan, the totally English city, the home of exiles when, as a matter of fact, it looks precisely like any town in Manitoba, Ontario or Nova Scotia, and the young people in the soda fountain will be listening to an American juke box and reading confession stories and comic papers written by and for morons.

EXCESSIVE EXPECTATIONS

BUT TO COME BACK to the genesis of this argument (which, I confess, has taken longer than I had intended), the legend of the dangerous secretary does a great deal of harm in the world. The young folks get the idea that life is full of such danger as this and are disappointed to find out the truth; the truth being, alas, that secretaries are not beautiful as a general rule and women, on the average, very plain, like men. We have reared on these current legends too high an expectation and it is the disappointment with the actual facts that threatens to break down the institution of marriage on this continent.

Young men expect their wives to act like Myrna Loy and to look like Hedy Lemarr, and if they act or look like themselves, husbands beat them or take to drink. Young women who have been reared on legends expect their husbands to look like Robert Taylor and act like Clark Gable, and when they fail, the bride wants to go home to mother or carry on with the ice man. And Canadians who have expected their country to be like a Northwest Mounted Police drama and have seen the United States represented as a hive of romance and Britain as a home of pure chivalry, look at their own country and wonder why it is such a failure.

Not to speak of the poor business man who comes down to work early in the morning after a night at the movies expecting his stenographer to look like Joan Crawford and finds her looking as usual, like his own wife.

THINKING AHEAD

David Stevenson, 15, is the son of W. H. Stevenson—who was editor of the London Daily Herald and now is with the British Ministry of Information. . . . David has been going to school at Charter House, and recently matriculated at Oxford. When the exam results were published, his father discovered that the boy had won honors, in the language test he had selected—German. . . . The boy confessed that he had been studying German, privately, and without any tutoring. "We've lived in France and you speak French fluently," the senior Stevenson reminded him. "You also can speak Spanish and Italian. Why did you pick the German language?" . . . "Because by the time I'm 18," young David explained, "there will be an army of occupation in Germany—and I mean to be with it."

BESS TELLS US

ONE OF THE MOST amusing articles I have read since the war started is in the August 9 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. It is "Hitler Bids For Christian Allies," by Demaree Bess.

It is amusing, not only for its central theme—that this Nazi personification of anti-Christ should really be naive enough to imagine that he could line up the western world behind a crusade to purge the world of Bolshevism, but for the net benefit of something worse.

It is even more amusing to me because Bess blandly ignores what he wrote in the Saturday Evening Post less than a year ago, and which was directly contrary to what he now sets forth.

Last year Demaree Bess began a series of articles from Germany, Poland and Sweden, in which both the author and the Saturday Evening Post played up the fact that they were completely free from censorship. Joe Goebbels, it seemed, had told Bess to go ahead and write what he felt like writing. I had no doubt about it after reading the articles. For there was not one syllable in them to which any Nazi censor could have taken exception.

One article was completely ludicrous. It was entitled, "Hitler's First Dominion." It was designed to prove that Stalin and the Soviet would never be able to fight Hitler and the Nazis, and hence, would have to "go along," as ordered by Hitler. Bess wrote what a legion of others echoed—that the Red army was no good; that there was such hopeless inefficiency and suppressed unrest in Russia that any invasion from the outside would touch off an internal explosion within.

All of which, in the seventh week of the bloody battle of Russia, seems not only unjustified but positively absurd.

CENSOR WAS THERE

It now seems that the censor was on the job after all. Bess tells us that the best article he wrote—about large-scale Nazi army rehearsals in Finland and Poland—was completely suppressed. Now in London, he is at liberty to lift much of the lid.

And, in spite of the confounding of his former predictions of what would happen in Russia, Bess does give some interesting sidelights on Nazi intentions.

The most important of these is the suggestion that Hitler has no intention of swinging the war back to the west, this year or ever. Bess claims to have heard from the lips of key Nazis the suggestion that Hitler will attempt not only to overcome Russia in the east, but to knock out the British Empire in that theatre of war as well.

"The invasion of Russia," writes Bess, "becomes merely the initial move in an all-out campaign against the British Empire, with the major battle ground shifted to Syria, and Palestine and Egypt, to Iraq and Iran and Afghanistan."

Obviously, if Hitler were first able to subdue Russia, and keep his army fairly intact, he would have little trouble in sweeping aside any resistance which our relatively small armies might offer until he got close to India.

ONLY IN BRITAIN

A conquest of western Russia, plus the Middle East, would in a year or two make Germany independent of the strangulating effects of the British blockade.

But Britain can never actually lose this war in Russia, Palestine, Egypt or any place other than Britain itself. As Winston Churchill remarked months ago, Hitler might get to the oil of the

Whirlaway Back In Winning Ways

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—They loaded Whirlaway with everything but a milk wagon yesterday, but it made no difference at all to Warren Wright's whizz-bang.

Packing 130 pounds, the triple crown winner came back at Saratoga for his first start since Attention upset him in the Arlington classic a week and a half ago.

For three-quarters of a mile he was far back. Then he unhooked his famous kick in the stretch and put his nose on the wire to win the one-mile Saranac handicap from War Relic, Man o' War's speedy son.

The Kentucky cannonball did it, too, while spotting War Relic 13 pounds and the others in the five-horse field all the way up to 22 in the weights. His time was 1:38. Piloting him was Alf Robertson, the steady Scot. Omission was third.

Fete at Esquimalt Nets Nearly $700 For Red Cross

With all organizations of the district lending their assistance, the Red Cross garden party held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pooley, Old Esquimalt Road, was a real community undertaking, and as a result the handsome sum of nearly $700 was raised for the beneficiary cause.

Sponsored by the Esquimalt unit of the Red Cross, the affair was formally opened by Mrs. R. O. Alexander, who spoke in warm terms of the splendid achievements of the Red Cross and wished the workers every success in all their ventures.

Throughout the afternoon the Esquimalt Garrison Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster G. E. Bowers, played a splendid selection of music, and further entertainment was provided in the way of dances by members of Miss Nellie Small's Victoria Girls' Pipe Band.

Business was brisk at all the attractively decorated stalls ranged at vantage points under the fine old trees, and clock golf, Bingo and other games proved popular diversions. Miss Alice Pooley was the general convener, assisted by Mrs. G. W. Baugh-Allen, president of the unit, and a splendid committee, representative of all the organizations of the municipality.

The various stalls and their conveners were as follows: Novelties, P.P.C.L.I. Auxiliary, Mrs. Mainprize, convener; home cooking, Esquimalt United Church, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Stringer, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Dennis and Mrs. Douglas; Bingo, Women's Institute, Mrs. N. Kelly, convener; candy, St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Doring and Mrs. Devenish; aprons and plain sewing, Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Wise; flowers, Mary Croft, Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., Mrs. W. E. A. Barclay; thousand pockets, Mrs. Nelson Gibson and Mrs. E. V. Finland, conveners with Miss Janet Henderson as the lady in costume; miscellaneous, Esquimalt Community Club, Mrs. R. McVie, convener; ice cream, Catholic Women's League, Mrs. F. C. B. Allen; fortune-telling, Miss Mayhew and Mrs. G. Ingledew; clock golf, Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson and Mrs. H. F. Crowe and Picadilly Kate, Mrs. Finnmore.

During the afternoon Miss Pooley's little dog perambulated the grounds with a collecting box strapped to his back and in charge of Master George Coldwell. Many people dropped contributions in the box, the proceeds of which will be used to aid British child victims of Nazi raids.

Nobody Loves a Fat Woman, Claims Authoress

NEW YORK (AP) — When Nina Wilcox Putnam said recently that women who allowed themselves to grow unattractively obese should be punished by law, she created a furore she thinks may do some good.

Hundreds of letters have come to her, the majority from older women who approved what she said. Others came from women who took exception to her views as an infringement on personal matters; others asked advice.

Every woman, in Miss Putnam's opinion, can be glamorous and charming, despite age, and with this in mind she is going to campaign for free beauty clinics. "I'm tired of only the rich having advantages," she said. "I want them made available to every woman. As we have medical clinics, we can have beauty clinics. Beauty culture is no longer the prerogative of the rich, any more than medical attention."

She also prescribed exercise, proper dieting and cleanliness. For two months Miss Putnam has been undergoing a rejuvenating program, and "before I'm through I'll look like 18 instead of 59, which I am," she said.

When the program started, she weighed 187½ pounds. Today she weighed 152, and in another month she expected to weigh only 140 pounds, she added.

Her treatments, she explained, have been purely scientific. She refuses to take medicine or diets, unless prescribed by doctors.

Her salary is the highest received by any woman in the government service. Even so, it is a lot less than many men officials who depend on her expert knowledge and advice.

Weddings

FAHRNI-MACKAY

Of much interest in Victoria, the groom being stationed at Esquimalt Military Hospital, was the wedding which took place, August 3 in South Arm Church, Steveston, when Lieut. Walter Harrison Fahrni, R.C.A.M.C., elder son of Mr. Stanley Fahrni, K.C., and Mrs. Fahrni of Gladstone, claimed as his bride, Isobel Roberta Jean, second daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Grant Mackay.

The bride's father, assisted by Rev. Oliver Mackay of Mission, B.C., officiated at the ceremony and the church, which has many associations for the bride's family, was beautifully decorated with flowers. Gladioli and sweet peas in pink tones banded the chancel and marked the guest pews.

Mr. Keith C. Fahrni of Yellowknife, N.W.T., was groomsmen for his cousin and Dr. Riggs and Mr. V. E. Fienann were ushers. The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Illa Miller.

The bride, who entered the church with her brother, Mr. C. W. Mackay, looked charming in a dark brown tailored suit, matching hat and accessories, with ecrú blouse and corsage of yellow rosebuds.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Mackay, wearing a navy blue redingote costume and navy-and-white hat, was assisted in receiving by the groom's aunt, Mrs. R. C. Fahrni of Vancouver, gownned in rose and navy with small hat in the same shades.

The bride, who is a graduate of this year's nursing class of the Vancouver General Hospital, where Dr. Fahrni interned for two years, asked a group of her classmates to assist in serving the wedding luncheon.

Dr. and Mrs. Fahrni came over to Victoria immediately after the ceremony, and will make their home here.

MILLER-FORRESTER

The daughter of a member of the Provincial Legislature was the bride at St. James' United Church, Vancouver, on Monday evening when Louise Mutrie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Forester, and Ernest Earl Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Miller of Vancouver, were united in marriage by Rev. George Pringle.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with embroidered bodice, filmy tulle veil, and carried Talisman roses and gardenias. Her sister, Marjorie, was bridesmaid in pale pink chiffon, with Watteau hat of blue tulle trimmed with pink roses to match those which were combined with sweetpeas in her bouquet. Mr. Glen Miller supported his brother.

Later a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when Mrs. Forester in a smart ashen of roses suit with Breton sailor in the same tone, with a corsage of pink roses, greeted the guests with Mrs. Miller, who wore a mist blue suit with harmonizing hat and corsage of pink roses, too.

A three-tier cake centred the bride's table graced by roses and ivory tapers. The couple left on a motoring honeymoon in the Cariboo by way of Harrison Hot Springs, the bride wearing a soft parma violet frock with turban to match, beige accessories and topcoat of cloudy beige camel-hair. Gardenias were in her corsage.

The couple will make their home in West Vancouver.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. C. W. Butler, the bride wore a gown of white tulle with long pointed sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and a short train. Her veil of illusion net flowed from a halo of net and orange blossoms to the end of the train and had a cluster of orange blossoms at the edge, and she carried a bouquet of butterfly roses and white gladioli showered with swainsons.

Miss Ivy Johnson was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a frock of yellow chiffon with long sleeves, and clusters of fresh mauve gladioli and yellow marguerites in her hair, the same flowers composing her arm bouquet. Their little cousin, Lorraine Heard, was a flower girl, in a frock of white dimity over pink tulle, with pink roses and violas in her hair and carried a colonial posy of roses, violas and pink carnations. Mr. Fred Scott was best man and Messrs. Gordon Ballantyne and Joseph Mason were ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Heard, 342 Arnold Avenue. Mrs. Johnson received in a "rose dawn" crepe dress and matching hat and a corsage bouquet of mauve gladioli and violas, assisted by Mrs. Pears, in a heavenly blue redingote ensemble with accessories en suite and a shoulder spray of pink roses and swainsons. The young couple stood between standard baskets of apricot and white gladioli to receive their friends. Supper was served from a table covered with a cream and green damask cloth, centred with the wedding cake, in folds of green tulle scattered with rosebuds, and lighted ivory tapers in silver holders.

For their honeymoon on the mainland, the bride left in a barge and red ensemble with a tweed coat and corsage bouquet of gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Pears will make their home at 343 Michigan Street. The many gifts included a case of flat silver from the Northwestern Creamery and staff to the bride, and a silver tea service and tray from the groom's associates at A. P. Slade Ltd.

Be Sure You Buy Corn With Husks For Best Value

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
Green corn is one of the blessings of summer. In buying it, select ears with husks clinging smoothly. Do not buy husked corn at the market. Corn tastes far better if the husks are not removed until just before cooking.

To cook, remove husks, cut off stem end and the tip and remove all silk. Have a large kettle of boiling water ready, put in corn and cook only from 7 to 12 minutes, depending on size. Remove immediately.

To cook corn off the cob, cut the kernels from cob with sharp knife, slicing downward. Then scrape over the surface again, removing the milk. Add milk to cut-off kernels. For each ear use 1 tablespoon butter. Melt butter in frying pan, turn in corn, and cook over very low heat until cooked. Stir frequently. Should cook from 10 to 12 minutes. Season to taste.

Snap Bean Succotash
Cook beans almost tender. To each cup of cooked beans, add 1/2 cup corn cut from cob and cooked as described above. Cook together until beans and corn are tender. Dot with butter liberally and season delicately.

Corn Oysters (Serves 4)

One cup corn pulp, 1 egg, 1/2 cup bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, pepper to taste, 1/2 teaspoon grated onion.

Scrape corn from cob. Beat egg well, and add the scraped raw corn pulp. Add bread crumbs, melted butter, onion, sugar and seasoning. Have hot frying pan ready with melted bacon fat. Drop corn mixture by teaspoon into hot fat. Brown on one side, turn and brown on the other. Serve at once.

Corn Pudding (Serves 4 to 6)

Two cups corn cut from cob, 3 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1/2 cup cream or top milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter, salt, pepper, 1/2 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon paprika, fine bread crumbs.

Beat eggs well. Add milk, cream, melted butter, corn and seasoning. Pour into greased casserole. Sprinkle bread crumbs over top and dust with paprika. Place casserole in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until set, about one hour. Insert knife in centre. If it comes out clean, pudding is done.

Tomorrow's Menu

Luncheon: Creamed broccoli on toast, wholewheat muffins, stewed blackberries, cookies, tea, milk.

CORDOVA BAY UNIT

Under auspices of the Cordova Bay Red Cross unit, a successful home cooking sale and tea were held in the garden of the home, of Mrs. K. R. Genn, Parker Avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Genn was assisted in serving tea by the Misses G. Genn, B. Thomas, and Mesdames A. Squire and G. Wilkinson. Mrs. C. H. Spicer and Mrs. D. Hoyt sold home cooking. The proceeds of the afternoon amounted to about $30, which will be used to provide parcels of food for prisoners in Germany. Several knitted and sewn articles, with two wool filled patchwork quilts were on display and much admired by the tea guests.

Members of the unit are invited to meet at the home of Mrs. Geo. Powell Tuesday afternoon to tie several wool-filled comforters and quilts. Tickets will be sold on two of the comforters and the proceeds used for the work of the unit.

Scottish Gift House Nets Another $814 For Two Funds

The monthly business meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, the Canadian Scottish Regiment, was held at Government House yesterday. Mrs. Leslie Macdonell, president, was in the chair. Mrs. S. J. McDonald, secretary, reported on correspondence received of interest to the meeting, which included notice of the delivery of 897 knitted hose tops to the 2nd Battalion, the wool having been furnished by the auxiliary. Acknowledgement was read from the Co-ordinating Council, Vancouver, of $75 donated by the auxiliary towards provisioning of the men of the 1st Battalion on their return journey to Debent, after their embarkation leave in British Columbia. Mrs. Stuart Robertson, wool convener, reported that there were 597 knitted comforts on hand. A nominating committee was appointed by the president and the board for elections to the board to take place at the annual meeting October 1. Mrs. W. R. Russell was made convener, with Mrs. MacLennan and Mrs. McDonald serving with her.

GIFT HOUSE REPORT

Mrs. Rupert Guthrie, chairman of the Scottish "Gift House" prize contest, gave her final report on the result of the contest and read a letter of appreciation from Mr. George Davey, winner of the "Gift House." Mrs. Guthrie congratulated the auxiliary on the results they had achieved. She felt they all had cause for jubilation in being able to help the Lord Mayor's Fund and their own auxiliary fund so substantially.

Mrs. Joan Jameson, treasurer, finance committee, gave her final audited statement on the "Gift House" as follows: receipts from sale of tickets, donations and donated materials, $20,064.46; total disbursements, $5,250.26; net proceeds, $14,814.20. Of this last amount $7,000 has already been donated to the Lord Mayor's Fund and $7,000 allocated for the auxiliary funds, leaving a balance of $814.20 to be divided equally between the two funds. The report was greeted with applause and Mrs. Jameson was thanked for her most efficient services as treasurer.

Mrs. W. Parker, ticket convener, had a most interesting statement to give on ticket distribution. Some 74,000 tickets were in circulation of which 54,000 odd were sold. She announced that the sale of tickets by members of the Women's Auxiliary at downtown tables brought in over $5,000 and sales in local shops brought in a further $3,000. Families of men in the regiment bought tickets to the amount of $500. Other tickets were sold up-island, locally, in Vancouver and across Canada. Also in the United States, the Yukon and Peru.

A standing vote of thanks was paid by the auxiliary to their president, Mrs. Leslie Macdonell, for the great help given by her to the contest. Mrs. Parker, ticket convener, was thanked for the arduous duties she had so successfully undertaken and Mrs. Russell was likewise thanked for the notable part she had played in making the campaign a success, as ticket distributor in Victoria.

On behalf of the auxiliary, Mrs. Macdonell presented Mrs. Guthrie with a beautiful gold compact,

WEDDINGS

COLVIN—CURTIS

Gladioli in copper tones made a pretty setting for the wedding of Anne, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Curtis, Winnipeg, and Mr. Walter James Colvin, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Colvin, 1776 Carriac Street, which was solemnized by Rev. Cyril Venables in St. Mary's Church at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mr. F. T. C. Wickett played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register Miss Sheila Akenhead sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by an old family friend, Mr. Sydney Clifford, and wore a floor-length gown of turquoise blue silk crepe with long sleeves and sequin trimming. Her chapel veil of matching tulle was arranged with clusters of orange blossom and she carried a round bouquet of Rapture rosebuds and swainsons. Miss Elsie Edwards, the bridesmaid, was in a bouffant frock of mauve taffeta with short puff sleeves, and wore a wide-brimmed matching hat of mohair trimmed with black velvet ribbon with long streamers, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas. Lance-Corpl. William Watson was the groomsmen, and acting as ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Norman Colvin, and Mr. Bert Edwards.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Colvin, where pastel-shaded gladioli predominated in the decorations. A drawn-work linen cloth covered the supper table, which was lighted with white tapers centred with the bride's cake, topped with a silver vase of pink rosebuds and white heather, and at each end cut glass baskets of rosebuds and heather.

Mrs. Colvin welcomed the guests in a graceful gown of aqua blue chiffon with black accessories and a shoulder bouquet of Ophelia rosebuds. Mr. Peter Cunningham proposed the toast to the bride and groom. Lance-Corpl. Watson, the best man, proposed the toast to the bridesmaid. Mr. Sydney Clifford added a few words specially to the bride, and Mr. W. F. Bridge proposed a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Sr., the day being the 28th anniversary of their wedding.

For a honeymoon up-island, the bride chose a navy blue tailored suit with corresponding accessories and a corsage bouquet of rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Colvin will make their home at Oak Bay.

Many people find when the fishing season gets under way they have forgotten the old formula for estimating the weight of salmon. One formula recommended by the Tyee Club is to multiply the square of the girth in inches by the square of the length in inches and divide by 800.

Many hotel proprietors in the Thames Valley are accommodating their overflow of guests in houseboats. In London balconies of apartments and flat-topped buildings are at a premium now as sleeping quarters. Londoners are eager for fresh air after a winter of nights spent mainly underground.

A summer-long survey of health and education of 6,000 children at camp boarding-schools in England is being conducted by the Ministry of Health and Board of Education, in order to see exactly how the children are reacting under new conditions. "So far," a health ministry official said, "it is obvious they are in excellent health."

Storekeepers in rural parts of England are rationing their customers to half the amount of paraffin oil they used last year because of a shortage. Rationing is even being extended to picture studios now. Many have found it so difficult to obtain supplies of photographic materials they have rationed customers to three pictures.

Canada's forest products have mounted steadily since war began. Sawmill production in Canada during 1939 reached a value of $100,132,597, compared with $902,855,906. Newsprint production in Canada in the first four months of this year totaled 1,062,607 tons, compared with 1,003,081 tons in the corresponding period last year.

An English firm was fined $50 about $223, after evidence was given it had been selling soap for a penny a cake more than other shops. F. E. Murrell of Bexley Heath was fined $5 and costs after a customer complained he had refused to sell two oranges unless she bought something else.

Even in the most modest of restaurants across the country you may expect coffee by the cup to go to 6 cents. The move is necessitated, according to Hotel News, trade journal, by the recent upping of sugar, coffee, labor and what not. First thought was to increase the size of the cups and boost the price to a dime, but the trade finally reasoned that customer yelping would be too great. Coming, too, is an added cent or two on a lot of menu items where a five-cent jump is considered too great. So it's beginning to look like the penny is coming back into its own.

FARMERS FACE LABOR SHORTAGE

Farmers of Vancouver Island face an acute shortage of farm labor, and at present there is no relief in sight, officials of the provincial government Employment Bureau said yesterday. The same condition exists in the rest of the province and in most farming districts throughout the Dominion.

The bureau officials said that although men were available for work, the $35 and $40 a month received on farms could not compete with jobs in the shipyards and other industries, thriving because of the war, which paid from 50 to 60 cents an hour.

The bureau is doing all it can to fill the orders for the farms and although very few farmers get men from this source they are obtaining university agriculture students and a few boys for the summer months. Since the beginning of the war agricultural wages have risen from $20 to $25 a month to an average of $35 and $40. Farmers say they are unable to go any higher.

Sing for the Troops

Frank Paulding, secretary of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. has received detailed reports from Toronto on the war work of the "Y" since the outbreak of the world struggle and smaller reports on the work done in one month, that of June. The information covers duties carried out in Canada, Iceland and Great Britain.

At the outbreak of war the "Y" started on the road to help servicemen by opening the doors of its 72 permanent Canadian buildings to everyone in the King's uniform — that uniform was a man's membership card. Soon after the Red Triangle huts were opened all across the country, concerts, games and off-duty programs were arranged, and by December, 1939, the organization was into the full swing of its war work.

Now, after almost two years of rendering services to men in uniform in Canada, Newfoundland and overseas the Y.M.C.A. is operating 413 centres and has served 22,000,000 men with physical, social, recreational, educational and religious activities as well as contributing hundreds of smaller personal services.

Thirty-six different points in the province where soldiers or airmen have received benefits during June appear in the report.

Supplies and equipment provided for the men at no cost included furniture, athletic equipment, electrical equipment, writing materials, small games and many miscellaneous articles.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Wing Commander Ernest McNab of Saskatoon has been posted to Command No. 4 Service Flying Training School, at Saskatoon and has arrived to take over his new command, Royal Canadian Air Force officials announced today.

Wing Cmdr. McNab will take over the command officially from Group Capt. Duncan Bell Irving, who has been posted to No. 1 Training Command at Toronto. Until recently, Wing Cmdr. McNab commanded No. 118 Fighter Squadron at Rockliffe Air Station, Ontario.

PIGEON RACING

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, rain and fog, the Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club held a successful young bird race from Hope, B.C., a distance of 110 miles air line, over the week-end. Fifteen members sent off 148 birds. Honors were won by W. McPherson, the club president, who also won a valuable special prize donated by R. Margison and the pool.

Following are the results, in yards per minute: W. McPherson, 421.7 yards; J. Cambrey, 420.1 yards; W. R. Tait, 417.6 yards; J. Bowcott, 417.4 yards; J. Bell, 398.8 yards; H. Saville, 397.7 yards; G. S. Eden, 395.3 yards; F. Jenkins, 393.1 yards; J. Boyle, 391.3 yards; Knowles Bros., 391.3 yards; S. R. Knott, 385.6 yards; B. Woolley, 383.0 yards; N. Rowe, 297.0 yards.

The next race will be held from Boston Bar, birds to be counter-

Contract Given For School Bus

Confirmation of a contract was received from Vancouver Island Coach Lines last night by the Saanich School Board, setting the cost of school bus transportation to two Saanich schools at $520 monthly.

Cost of carrying pupils from Cordova Bay to Royal Oak School was set at $420, and cost of transportation from Cadboro Bay to Cedar Hill School was placed at $100.

The board agreed to make Cloverdale School available for a public meeting at which the proposed new Saanich waterworks will be discussed on August 19. A series of meetings will be held from August 18 to September 19. The board also decided to make certain schools available for balloting on September 20.

Miss M. Silby and J. Barlow were appointed to the municipal school staff and allocated to Cloverdale and Tofino schools, replacing Miss K. Nouman and G. Cook, who have resigned.

Advice was received from Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education, that the board could carry on until the end of the year without filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee S. F. Miles.

The board will meet next Monday to choose a centre for the industrial arts and home economics courses. A report from Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer, on a new dental plan for the municipal schools also will be dealt with.

Miss Dorothy Dickens, 2927 Quadra Street, took second prize with her picture, "Sunrise," taken at 4:30 in the morning near Cape Mudge on the east coast of Vancouver Island. Third prize was won by Eric Hughes, 85 Moss Street, for his effort, "Athlete," a muscular young man in bathing trunks standing on a rocky ledge. Fourth prize went to H. Whittaker of 411 Chester Street with a study named "Temptation," showing a woman holding an ice cream cone near the mouth of a spaniel.

Awards were received by the following, who placed from fifth to 14th: W. B. Smith, 651 Transit Road; E. H. Tucker, 1034 Oliver Street; E. P. McKie, 2841 Inlet Avenue; George Streeton, 1732 Adanac Street; Joyce H. Madcock, R.M.D.2 Victoria; Audrey Goudie, R.M.D.2 Victoria; M. Lyle, 217 Central Building; W. B. The following received honorable mention: Eric Hughes, 85 Moss Street; C. Palmer, 1251 Dominion Road; Gregory Harvey, 619 Niagara Street; E. Munday, 420 St. Charles Street; Mrs. Ann

Brand Crowned Tennis Champion

Carl Brand won the men's singles championship of the Esquimalt tennis tournament last night the hard way. After dropping the first two sets in his match with Jack Wilkinson, Brand staged a grand comeback to capture three in a row. Scores were 3-6, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

Mrs. W. Erickson and Mrs. Thompson won the women's doubles crown in another extra set affair. After dropping the first set 6-2, the new titleholders won the next two 8-6, 9-7.

Final of the men's consolation singles saw Rex Jackson defeat Ivan Temple in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3.

At the conclusion of the finals Cliff Margison, president of the C.P.R. club, presented the prizes.

B.C. Grooms, Riders Get Pay Increases

VANCOUVER (CP)—Grooms who have horses running on twilight racing days at Lansdowne Park will be given a bonus of $5 per race, directors of the West Coast Jockey Club decided yesterday. Grooms claimed they were forced to work extra long hours on these nights, but didn't threaten to strike as jockeys at the track did at Tuesday night's meet when they held up the second race about 15 minutes.

Purses in the second and fourth races were increased from $400 to $500 to give the riders $10 in-$420.00 rent, please!

Wouldn't you be shocked if your landlord demanded a year's rent in advance?

● You pay your rent, gas, electric and telephone bills by the month. Buy life insurance the same way.

You'll be most agreeably surprised to find how easy it is to enjoy adequate protection for your family, and a guaranteed income for your own later years—if you pay for these necessities in small monthly amounts.

Now, particularly, when extra taxes make special calls upon your income, and when you want to buy war savings certificates and support war charities, is the time to take advantage of this Budget Plan service.

The plan works like this: you choose any policy, but instead of giving the first year's premium in cash, you pay for just one month. At age 30, for example, on a $5000. Double Protection Life policy you would pay just $6.15. As a service to you, the Company will accept your post-dated checks, one for each month of the year.

Imagine how easily you could pay for financial security under this plan for as little as $5 a month! Send the coupon today.

Where to Stay and Play On Vancouver Island

By E. L. FORBES

There are signs by the wayside these days that tell us summer is about on the wane. The deep blue of the gentian flowers in every vacant lot, a dusting of autumn gold over the sun, the heavy dew on the grass in the morning, all point to the turn of a season.

Don't procrastinate any longer. Take that holiday you have been promising yourself ever since the first of June. Explore Vancouver Island. Spend a few days north of Nanaimo. Travel over the Alberni Highway and into Sproat Lake. Take time out at Stamp Falls to watch the salmon leaping and twisting over the fish ladders, their silvery scales bright and shining in the slanting rays of the sun. See the Forbidden Plateau. Stop by the way and admire the natural beauty of the parks at Englishman's River, Little Qualicum Falls and Elk Falls. Picnic on the shores of Cameron Lake, walk in the majestic stillness of Cathedral Grove, hike to the top of Mount Arrowsmith and see the sun rise.

I could go on suggesting to you any number of beauty spots on this island you should explore. If you only see a few of them you will have had a real holiday!

Don't forget—you can find accommodation to suit you wherever you go. De luxe hotels, delightful summer countryside inns and modern auto camps. All are reasonably priced, too.

From the notebook to you: To Out - of - Town Visitors! Among the many good hotels in Victoria we wish to list THE DOMINION, with comfortable rooms, hospitable service and excellent cuisine. Also THE METROPOLIS, with all modern comforts. Both are in the centre of the city. Both offer reasonable rates.

It's Popular Again! Canoeing on the quiet waters of the Gorge under a big yellow moon! (Umm! Romance!). Get your canoe at THE GORGE BOATHOUSE. Good service here.

Hits the Spot! A cup of good tea with dainty sandwiches and cakes. In attractive surroundings, too. LINGERFIELD'S TEAROOM, at Cadboro Bay.

Fishing is at its best at Brentwood right now. Get in touch with HUGH CREED or HARRY PEARD. Rent a rowboat, outboard, or a launch from them. A guide, too, if you so desire. You will be sure and get your fish!

Looking for Something Different? Try BRENTWOOD AUTO COURT, just 20 minutes from Victoria on good highway. Real beauty spot. Ultra modern accommodation. Reasonable rates.

Our Own Duke of Kent will be at Patricia Airport today and Friday afternoon. You'll be going out to see him, won't you? Then drop in at THE CHALET for a Devonshire cream tea or delicious Chicken Dinner before or after his visit.

Another Suggestion! The ROYAL OAK INN is right on the highway you'll be taking to Patricia Bay. Delicious meals served there.

Camping Out? Then be sure and consider ROSEBANK AUTO CAMP at Mill Bay. It has all the best facilities for camping. Good cabins, wooded shore line. Fine beach. Store on property.

Do you like to relax? Read a book in the shade of a tree? Doze on the beach? Eat delicious meals daintily served? Then do visit KILMALU at Mill Bay. You'll find it a delightful spot!

Notice to Fishermen! Good catches taken at Lake Cowichan recently. THE RIVERSIDE INN offers just the kind of accommodation you'll like. Boats for hire. Good food.

To All Blue Water Sailors! The sheltered nature of Maple Bay makes it an ideal spot for small craft of every sort. Rowboats, Sail Boats and Launches for hire up there if you haven't got one of your own. THE MAPLE INN offers splendid accommodation in delightful surroundings. Oysters Again! Just a reminder that CHUCK'S OYSTER BAR is right on the highway north of Ladysmith.

Good News! There are still some cottages available at TILICUM SEASIDE COTTAGE CAMP on Yellow Point. Get yours before they are all booked for the rest of August. Don't forget Yellow Point is just right for a September vacation.

Driving to Nanaimo? Then stop over at THE MALASPINA HOTEL. It is very comfortable. Meals are excellent.

Going in to Stamp Falls? FLITTON'S RIVER VISTA CAMP is right on the road you'll be driving. Just beyond the little town of Alberni. Right on the river. Good cabins and cottages.

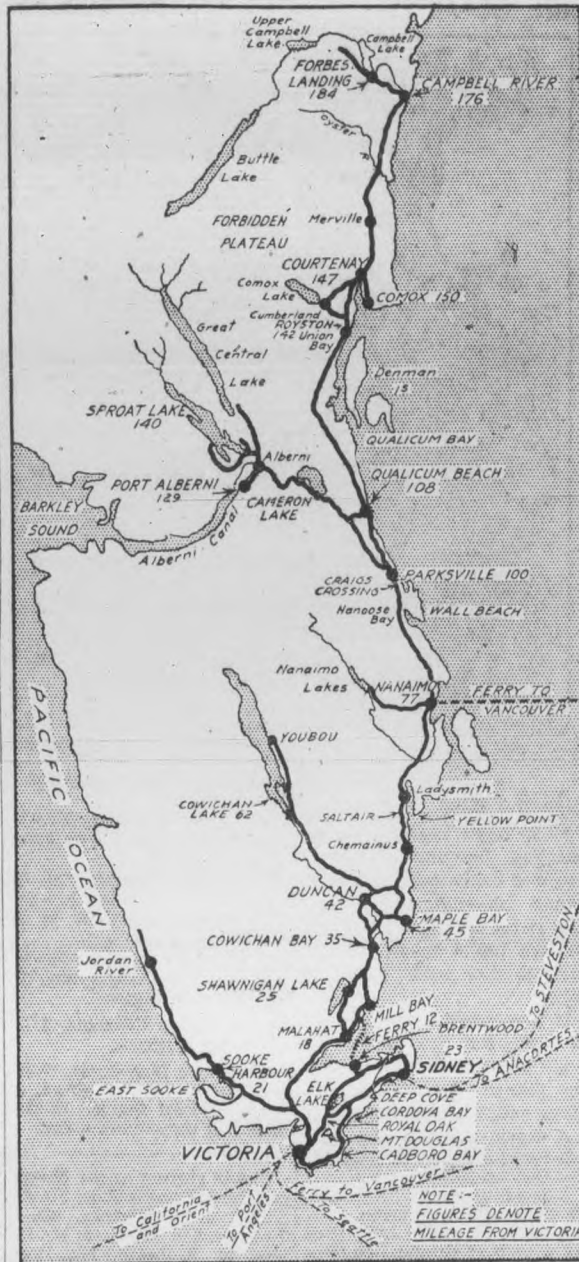

Perhaps you already know about THE GREEN LANTERN AUTO CAMP at Courtenay. If not, let me tell you it is a really excellent spot to stop. Overnight or for a longer time. Amazingly low rates.

Fun and Frolic! An everyday event at GRANDVIEW AUTO CAMP at Qualicum Beach. Every one likes this place.

Something Here you'll Appreciate! At SUNSET INN, Qualicum Beach, there is an atmosphere of quiet dignity combined with friendliness. Everything for your comfort and pleasure.

Romantic Name! Yes, it's true. But CASA DEL MAR at Qualicum Bay offers much more than romance. There are new stucco cottages on the beach. Modern sail boats and launches for hire up there if you haven't got one of your own. THE MAPLE INN offers splendid accommodation in delightful surroundings.

Right on the way to Comox or Campbell River. A few miles south of the little city of Courtenay. LANG'S BEACH RESORT—one of the smartest cottage resorts on the island. Put this on your list for serious consideration.

Vancouver Island resorts . . . best holiday fare.

Again we suggest you holiday in Sooke district. SEAGIRT on the East Sooke Road is a very attractive spot. You'll like it.

Labor Moves Endanger Inflation Safeguards

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA — Government economists have made Canada a laboratory for demonstrating to the world that the evil of inflation need not become one of the horrors of war.

That experiment is now entering on its crucial phase. The thesis upon which it is based—that economic controls can be designed on a sufficiently elaborate scale to thwart wartime inflation—is currently realized as in danger of being swept away by the irresistible march of events on the home economic front.

The major threat is being provided by labor. Unrest among the workers of the Dominion has been spreading over a broad front, and the most sympathetic attempts of the federal authorities to allay it are meeting with stubborn resistance. Since the government's wage policy is the cornerstone of its anti-inflation policy, federal observers are realizing that the latter will have to go by the boards in major degree, unless labor peace can be restored on a status quo basis.

SPIRAL

Curiously enough, labor, which is now threatening to set Canada's wartime economy upon the inflation spiral, is the class in whose interests the government's anti-inflation policy was mainly designed.

The controls by which the government has been seeking to prevent inflation so far have been:

1. Control of wages by the famous Privy Council order 7740, providing the average level for the years 1926-1929 as a base, with a cost of living bonus of $1.25 per week for every 5 per cent rise in the cost of living since the beginning of the war.

2. Control of rents by pegging them at the level of January 1, 1940.

3. Vesting wide powers in the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to peg commodity prices, and prevent wartime scarcity from becoming an inflationary price factor.

4. A policy of systematic government borrowing from the public, both by war bonds and war savings certificates, with a view to offsetting in some degree the increased buying power released by war industries, thus helping to keep inflation in check from the demand side of the picture.

5. The imposition of quotas on certain lines of consumers' goods, designed, in part, to check consumers' spending by limiting the quantity of consumers' goods available, but also intended to give war industries priority in respect to important raw materials.

WARTIME LEVEL

The foundation stone upon which all these measures rest, however, is recognized by federal officials as the now-celebrated P.C. 7740. If the combined floor and ceiling for wages which this device provides are swept away and wages start to find their own wartime level, officials recognize the other controls will have to be abandoned in greater or less degree, and the inflationary process will be under way.

The realization of this situation is back of the government's unconcealed concern over the recent spread of unrest across the labor front of the Dominion. The "slowdown strike" that has been in progress for several weeks now in the Cape Breton coal mines, the unrest in the aluminum industry that had its sensational outbreak at Arvida some 10 days ago, and the stubborn trouble in a huge steel industry in Hamilton, are recognized by federal officials as serious enough in themselves, but as even more vital in their possible reaction upon the entire war economy of the Dominion.

Of one thing the government is certain: If inflations comes, labor will be the chief loser. In the last war the Dominion experienced a degree of inflation and, while wages increased during 1914-1918 by 47 per cent, the cost of living increased over the same period by 59 per cent.

Second Class Graduates From H.M.C.S. Royal Roads

Sub-lieutenants from all parts of Canada who have been applying themselves diligently to mastering fundamentals of the Royal Canadian Navy at H.M.C.S. Royal Roads for the past three months, will shortly be posted to their first service jobs. This week they are having their farewell parties. Next week they will receive their orders. Some will get posts afloat while others will remain ashore in administrative or instructional jobs. The young sub-lieutenants have enjoyed their associations under the baronial tower of the former Hatley Park mansion and this week Robert Fort, photo-

Want To Be a Spy? Many Call, Few Chosen

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK — This column should be written in invisible ink or in code because it deals with spies.

It had its beginning a few days ago when 29 foreign espionage agents were rounded up and arrested here. If there were that many spies in the neighborhood, I reasoned, there must be a crying need for our spies to counteract them.

Since I grow a beard rather quickly, and enjoy interfering in other people's business, I felt it my duty to volunteer in the spy service.

I thought this would be as simple as enlisting in the infantry, artillery or engineer branches of the service. So I picked up the telephone (after first putting on gloves so as to leave no fingerprints) and called the local Federal Bureau of Investigation headquarters.

A sepulchral voice finally answered.

"F.B.I. field office."

I told the voice of the F.B.I. exactly what I wanted to do. That with the country in a state of emergency, I wanted to be a spy and was there somebody there who could tell me where to report for duty.

"I am sorry we cannot tell you that," the F.B.I. spokesman said in a voice that must have formerly belonged to Dracula's butler. I asked if there was some one who could direct me to a proper department for such information.

SECRET

The F.B.I. voice dropped even lower, grew even more mysterious.

"I am sorry, we cannot tell you that."

This rebuff didn't stop me. It could hardly be expected to stop a man who in earlier years had wrung direct quotations from such Sphinx-like souls as Dizzy Dean, Max Baer, Bill Tilden and Wendell Willkie during the 1940 campaign.

So, changing my gloves and slipping on a pair of dark glasses, I called the United States Army Information Service.

I got a Colonel Something-or-Other and told him how I wanted to serve my country.

As a matter of fact, I told him three times before he got it quite clear.

"Listen," I said on the third repeat, "I want to be a spy. I am healthy, patriotic, have average intelligence, and feel that there must be a place for a man who is willing to spend a great deal of his time ferreting out information."

WOMEN, TOO

"Listen, fellow," the officer said, "you'll have to take your place in line. My office is half-filled now with women who want to be 1941 Mata Haris. They come in here every day, four or five of them, and volunteer to hang around night clubs and pick up information. All they want is $100 a week spending money and a few evening clothes."

The officer went on to tell me that all volunteers for spy service were turned down. He said they were turned down for the simple reason that in so far as he knew and in so far as all the other officers knew, there was no such thing as a spy.

"Did you ever know a spy?" the officer asked me. "Did you ever see a spy? Can you tell me the name of a spy? I have been in the army since long before the last war and I never saw or heard of a spy. As far as I know, the United States doesn't have spies."

Come to, think of it, I don't suppose I ever did know of a spy. A spy wouldn't be much of a spy, would he, if he went around telling everybody he was a spy, or wearing a red suit marked "spy" on the back. The more you think about it, the more you realize that the only spies who ever got recognition must have been pretty sorry ones, else they never would have gained publicity. The good ones do their work silently, surreptitiously and successfully.

I can't help but be disappointed by my failure to become a spy. In the first place, what in the world will I ever do with that stationery with the letterhead, "McLemore-GX234?" In the second, Abercrombie and Fitch is being pretty nasty about taking back my seven new spy ensembles.

In the third place, my beard is still growing.

One piano teacher says that recordings of pupils' playing are useful to show relatives their progress, and also to aid pupils in self-criticism.

Washington Explains Why

Don't Bet on War With Japs Tomorrow

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — A year ago the experts began predicting that the U.S. fleet would go to Singapore, that war between the U.S. and Japan was inevitable, and that the Japanese were ready to seize the Dutch East Indies any 15 minutes. On the general theory that if you predict a thing long enough and hard enough it will come true under the law of averages, all these things may happen. But don't go without eating until they do, for there are any number of reasons, military as well as economic, that they aren't going to come off instantly.

Whatever you think of the Roosevelt policy, or lack of policy toward Europe, credit must be given where credit is due, and the policy with regard to the Far East and particularly Japan has thus far been planned and executed with skill. The importance of the Orient in the international picture has not been overlooked, but the bait and the line played out to the Pacific big game fish has been well handled, beautifully timed and with just enough of the slack of appeasement so that fisherman Uncle Sam has not become fouled in his own line and dragged into the drink.

Economically, the actual freeing of Japanese credits and the threat of embargoes on oil and silk have been good pressure to make Tokyo stop and consider. Actual embargoes would do the Japanese more harm than sending the fleet to Singapore.

JAPANESE TIRED

Militarily, Japan is rated the third most war-weary country in the world, Spain and Italy alone being ahead of her in that kind of despair. Furthermore, Japan is in the position of the big fish which swallowed the hook and can't spit it out.

She has an army of less than two million — 1,600,000 under arms and another 200,000 or so called up. She has the manpower for an army of 4,000,000, but can't get the arms or equipment for them. That is, she has 57 divisions under arms and the most she can raise is 66, instead of the potential 200.

Information is perhaps none too accurate, but the best is that 10 divisions are in Manchukuo against the two red banner armies of the Soviet, made up of 26 infantry, 10 cavalry and four mechanized divisions. Thirty-seven Japanese divisions are occupied in China, one in Korea, one on Sakhalin Island, three or four in Hainan and French Indo-China, and four or five at home. That's what the military experts call extreme dispersion.

Japanese mechanized forces are as bad if not worse than even the American. Japanese air forces of approximately 3,600 planes are mostly 1939 models, copies of German originals now obsolete, and 750 miles is still the effective range for bombers carrying bombs. From Saigon, French Indo-China, to Singapore is 840 miles and from Formosa or Canton to Manila is about the same. From Vladivostok to Tokyo is 680 miles.

A JOB FOR THE NAVY

That would seem to leave it up to Japan's navy — and a right good navy, too — if Japan is to go places. She can, of course, ride off in all four directions. If she goes north and runs into the Soviet, there is plenty of trouble ahead. She can go farther into China at about the same rate she has gone in the last four years.

She can go south, against the Malay Peninsula and Singapore and encounter a great many worries. The occupation of Indo-China can be considered as accomplished, and Japan might even penetrate Siam, but Singapore is something else again. Before Japan can tackle the Dutch East Indies, she must reduce Singapore, and it would take years.

To the east lie the Philippines. They are within range, and if Japan did not have her hands full in three other directions, they would be pie any time she wanted to help herself. Engaged as the Japanese are on three other fronts, a full shooting war, requiring complete co-ordination of sea, air and land forces, would keep the Japanese gentlemen very busy indeed for quite some time, thank you, please.

So don't bet on war with Japan tomorrow.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Peppery Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and peepish. Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

Depends On Steel Supply

Cannot Make Faster Progress Building Ships

"There are complaints from many of you that we are not going on with the building of merchant ships and that we are not utilizing daylight saving time as much as we might, but if you chat with the shipbuilders, as I have, you will change your minds. I have a letter from a local firm which is engaged in the construction of freighters. Only one steel mill was able to take its order, and this firm was two to four months behind in its American orders, yet the local firm had its demands met in 14 days, because that firm was engaged in essential war work. We cannot make steel any faster."

That was the statement of Robert W. Mayhew, M.P., before a joint meeting of the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel today.

Mr. Mayhew reviewed the war effort of Canada since September 10, 1939, telling of the wonderful strides made by this country in fighting a total war.

After telling of the amazing increases in military, naval, aerial and industrial power, he remarked: "If you asked if I was satisfied with the war effort I would say—'No.' We have a right to be thankful for what the people of this country have done, but we have no right to be satisfied. Too little will not win this war—too much will. We cannot think in terms of dollars and cents while the battle is still on. We must think in terms of equipment and the shock we will be able to give to Hitler and his crowd."

THANK UNCLE SAM

"I would like the people to study for awhile," he added, "what the Lend-Lease Bill means to the British Empire and to the other free peoples of the world. I would also like them to think of what the Hyde Park declaration means to all those fighting against Hitler. Since the war began Canada has been trading with Britain on the lease and lend plan and with the United States we have paid as we have gone. These two instruments, the Lease-Lend Bill and the Hyde Park declaration, are but milestones in the doom of Hitler. We should say thanks to Uncle Sam."

The speaker gave figures and comparisons to illustrate the tremendous leaps Canada had taken in developing all its instruments of war. At the beginning of the war, he said, the Dominion had a navy of 13 ships and a personnel of 1,500. Now there are 200 craft and a manning force of over 20,000. The sea force had been serving on all the seas of the world and had been at every strategic point necessary to capture, sink or force the scuttling of enemy ships. It had been at evacuation points and had conveyed over 30,000,000 tons of merchandise, food and munitions to date.

He ended this disclosure of information with the words, "We are satisfied with the quality but we cannot be satisfied with the quantity until Hitler is no more."

Mr. Mayhew said that at the outbreak of war Canada had a comparatively small army, but that around the spirit of the men of the war of 1914-18 the country was building an ever-increasing powerful force. Almost 100,000 men had been sent overseas in the last year and a half, and another division of infantry and an armored division would be dispatched before this year was out. In one mechanized division there were 3,150 vehicles, the cost of equipping it amounted to $65,000,000. It took 80,000 gallons of gasoline for it to travel 100 miles.

TREMENDOUS GROWTH

The personnel of the Royal Canadian Air Force had increased from 300 to 55,000 men since the start of hostilities. The cost of developing the Empire Training Plan was $825,000,000, Canada's share being $550,000,000. He compared this with the $120,000,000 that it cost to build the C.P.R., and the $350,000,000 to build the Panama Canal. Since the start of the war the Dominion had built 1,500 planes, and was now producing at the rate of 40 a week.

Canadian industry, Mr. Mayhew added, was built upon a peacetime basis and in the past year and a half the government has spent half a billion dollars in the construction and converting of plants. More than 120,000 transport vehicles came out of Canadian factories and had been shipped to Empire forces all over the world since the war began. In September, 1939, no guns were produced in Canada. Now 14 different types were being made and at the present time this country possessed the largest automatic weapon factory in the world.

The speaker said that B.C. was doing its part and that its contribution to the war effort was well over $100,000,000. Victoria had been receiving $1,000,000 a month out of war industry. B.C. payrolls had increased $22,000,000 because of stimulated war effort.

In Provincial Police Court yesterday Ivan H. Spears was fined $25 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty to driving in a dangerous manner on Admirals Road on July 26. A $10 fine and $2.50 costs was imposed on a trucking company for operating a truck without the proper license.

Thomas Kelway, 1111 Douglas Street, complained to city police yesterday a car owned by G. F. Brown, Beecher Bay, had side-swiped his car while he was driving along Government Street, and did not stop. Mr. Kelway said he gave chase and when he overtook the car, the driver refused to give him his name.

Troops and Girls Sing Next Week

The crowd that thronged Beacon Hill Park last night to participate in the weekly civic cheer-up concert contributed $31.25 toward the purchase of band instruments for a petrol company unit now in eastern Canada. Another $30 is needed and Alderman W. H. Davies announced that a collection will be taken at next week's concert.

Private Sandford of the Irish Fusiliers won the singing competition open to men of the services, Steward George Anderson, R.C.N.R., placed second, and Flight-Sergeant S. J. Frith, R.C.A.F., took third prize. Next week the men and their girl friends will sing in duets.

Roger Perullet was master of ceremonies, Betty Davis sang and Bert White played a variety of fiddles and gave a Chinese impersonation. Paul Michellin accompanied at the piano and an old-time orchestra played for dancing and community singing.

NEW PARKING LIMITS PROPOSED

The public works committee of the City Council will recommend at the next council meeting that one hour parking be enforced on Yates Street, between Blanshard and Quadra Streets. At present there is no parking limit in the block.

A letter was received at City Hall today from George Brisco, manager of the Northern Electric Company Ltd., suggesting that a two-hour instead of a one-hour limit be imposed. Mr. Brisco pointed out that the two-hour limit would prevent all-day parking.

The public works committee also will recommend that a no-parking strip 40 feet long be established opposite the gates of the immigration building on Simcoe Street, and that a stop sign be placed at the intersection of Ida and Pembroke Streets.

A permit was issued today to P. Wakeman for construction of a $3,000, five-room dwelling at 2606 Asquith Street.

The city was notified in a letter from the Unemployment Insurance Commission that persons employed by any municipality when remuneration is solely by credit on relief or taxes are exempted from the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act. The exemption, however, does not apply to persons employed on public works undertaken by municipalities in order to remove persons from relief rolls, when pay and conditions are similar to those on regular public works.

Cab Companies Present Case

Frederick Tubman of Safety Cab Company told a Board of Arbitration, sitting at the Legislative Buildings this morning on the question of taxi-drivers' wages and working conditions, that an increase in taxi rates in Victoria might cut down the business by 20 per cent.

Suggestion has been advanced at the inquiry that rates might be advanced so taxi-drivers could get increased wages.

Mr. Tubman said an accurate estimate of the effect on business was not possible, but 20 per cent was his guess, and there was a question whether the companies would make enough out of a rate increase to pay higher wages.

He claimed there was no comparison between taxi work here and in Vancouver, where wage rates were higher and the working day an hour shorter. In Vancouver men worked from street stands in all weathers, and they operated on a system that made for better pay loads. In Victoria the men drove about five or six hours out of their 10 hours on an average working day, and perhaps eight hours on holidays and paydays.

He estimated the average taxi driver here drives about 100 miles a day.

Taxi-driving, could not be called skilled labor, Mr. Tubman said, since every motorist took about the same tests as a taxi-driver. At the same time it was not entirely unskilled, nor were men required to measure up to perfect physical fitness.

The case for the taxi companies continued during the day, and when H. L. Sangster of the Blue Line took the stand with his financial accounts the public was excluded.

TO BE PILOT—Leading Aircraftman Douglas Alexander, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander of Cowichan Lake and Chehalis, who will soon graduate as a pilot at the R.C.A.F. training school at Brandon.

Pattullo Confident Liberals Will Win

Back from a 12-day trip through the Kootenays and Arrow Lakes district, Premier Pattullo today expressed confidence his government will be returned at the general election in October.

Mr. Pattullo said the general feeling among many shades of opinion seemed to be that the government would be returned, but that did not mean it would neglect the needs of individual ridings.

He said most predictions were that the Liberals would be re-elected with somewhere about the same majority — 31 out of 48 House seats. Personally he hoped it would gain some seats to show the country is solidly back of the policy of all-out co-operation with Ottawa in the war effort.

"I found, too, that the problem closest to the surface in those interior ridings is the question of roads," he said.

The Premier will take part in several functions for H.R.H. the Duke of Kent during today and tomorrow.

Bank of Toronto Buys Moody Block

The entire Moody Block at the northwest corner of Yates and Broad Streets has been purchased by the Bank of Toronto from Cameron Investment & Securities Company Ltd., C. W. Pangman, manager of the Bank of Toronto here, said today.

Mr. Pangman said it was hoped to obtain a permit from Ottawa for demolition of the present building and construction of a new bank building on the corner. Wartime building restrictions, he said, might prevent immediate construction of a new block.

Bank clearings in Victoria for the week ending August 7 amounted to $2,159,230. The sum for the corresponding period last year was $1,955,671.

Record Tyee Fish

Largest fish ever caught at Campbell River under the Tyee Club rules was landed today by Mrs. T. B. Randall, Vancouver. It weighed 66½ pounds. Previous record was in 1935 when John C. Charles Agnew of Seattle, landed one weighing 64 pounds. The fish are landed on light rods and lines.

Sunday Shooting Ban in Saanich

Shooting of pheasants in the North Saanich area on Sundays is prohibited in the B.C. game regulations for 1941, announced today by the Attorney-General's department.

This is to meet complaints of residents against the week-end shooting.

The department has also acceded to a request of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association and ordered a closed season between Tugwell Creek and Jordan River on the west coast so that the logged-over land there may be established with pheasants.

Hunters will shoot on daylight saving time.

At Minnie Lake, in the Douglas Lake cattle country the game department has set aside a stretch of land as a conservatory and resting place for migratory birds. For the first time a section of Yale has been opened for pheasant shooting to deal with pheasants doing damage to crops.

The bag limit on grizzly bear has been raised from one per season to one each in the spring and fall. This is to encourage grizzly hunting by nonresidents during the spring.

In the Adams Lake area a short open season has been granted on mountain sheep. The department liberated some sheep there a few years ago.

Open seasons are not changed. In this area the main open seasons are: Quail, October 18 to November 30; blue grouse, September 6 to October 31; willow grouse, October 18 to November 30; pheasants, October 18 to November 30; ducks, November 1 to January 15; deer, September 6 to November 30.

Parks Publicity Aids War Effort

Customs officials along the B.C.-Washington-Idaho border are finding no decrease in tourist traffic from the U.S. despite gasoline restrictions recently brought into effect in this country, says Robert J. C. Stead, superintendent of publicity for the National Parks Bureau, Ottawa, who arrived in Victoria yesterday noon and left this afternoon.

Mr. Stead is traveling across Canada inspecting the Dominion parks and doing publicity work. Last Tuesday he took a trip over the border to Spokane, where he spoke to the Chamber of Commerce on the movement of tourists between the two countries. He emphasized there that there was no restriction on the amount of gas that could be bought by tourists in Canada, but just on the hours in which it is sold.

The parks bureau was playing its part in the war effort, Mr. Stead said, its publicity bringing thousands of Americans into the Dominion and their money helping to win the battle. This year Banff National Park was host to 129,092 people up until August 1, almost 40,000 more than last year's 91,549.

At present the bureau is engaged in taking a color movie of the Rocky Mountain parks and springs called "Health Springs Eternal." This is to be released for publicity purposes next winter.

Little Call Yet For Waste Fats

Victoria housewives are not yet being asked to save animal fats from their kitchens for conversion into oils for Canadian wartime consumption, as far as could be ascertained today.

According to an announcement from William Knightly, salvage officer at Ottawa, garbage collection systems throughout Canada are being asked to gather animal fats and greases saved by housewives. The local garbage department, however, has not yet received such a request.

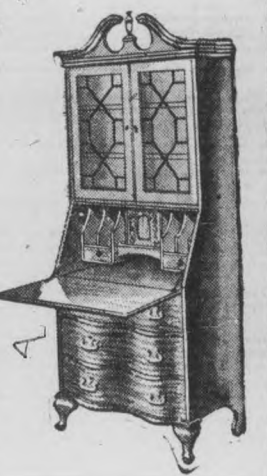

Nor is the B.C. Salvage Corps eager to have contributions of animal fats, bones or greases expected today. One acceptable barrel of fats from the Puget Sound Lumber Company camp at Jordan River, which was turned over to the local army soap plant. The army gave the Salvage Corps one quarter of this weight in soap, and the soap was contributed to Bundles for Britain.

Friday evening at 8.30 sound pictures of the Army and Navy Veterans' annual picnic and colored films of the Victory Parade and departure of the Princess Pats will be shown in the Army and Navy Veterans' auditorium. Mc. bers' families and friends are invited. The Victoria Boys' Band will provide a musical program. On August 13 White Rock unit of the Army and Navy Veterans will arrive at about 12.30 noon by special boat on a visit to the local unit. It is expected that 900 veterans and their families will make the visit.

Lt.-Governor to Open Sailors' Home Aug. 19

Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber has consented to officially open Prince Robert House, the new hostel for seamen at 916 Douglas Street, on August 19, at 3.30.

The hostel, which has been completely renovated at a cost of $25,000 by the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada and is the pet project of Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., is designed to cater exclusively to the shore needs of naval sailormen and the men of the merchant marine.

So great has been the demand for accommodation during the past few days that Capt. Frank Baylis, secretary, arranged for the installation of 50 cots in the dormitories to take care of the preopening rush. The building will have accommodation for about 100 sailors.

Steal $25; Leave $40

A thief or thieves who entered the apartment of Mrs. H. B. Crofton, 1362 Pandora Avenue, yesterday, gaining entrance with a pass key, stole $25 and left about $40 in a cash box.

City detectives investigated. The cash box containing the money had been hidden in a soiled clothes basket. The box had been locked, keys of which had been taken from a dresser drawer and replaced after the theft.

BAFFLING MALADY KILLS 60 IN U.S.

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — A baffling malady, possibly mosquito-borne, has a special medical corps working night and day in the United States midwest in an attempt to stop spread of the disease which has killed some 60 persons in little more than a month.

Doctors call the infection encephalitis, or sleeping sickness. Where it comes from, what causes it and how to stop it is the grave problem confronting medical scientists gathered here under Dr. James P. Leake of Washington, medical director of the U.S. public health service.

The outbreak started somewhere in this area a few weeks ago. Since then it has spread, touching many parts of the state and scattered section of South Dakota and Minnesota. The latest death count is 37 in North Dakota, 19 in Minnesota and three in South Dakota, but the toll is probably higher than those figures.

A.P.'s Rumor Deflator

NEW YORK (CP) — The Associated Press inaugurating a new service intended to explode wild rumors, which flood the world almost daily, presents as its first:

"On July 20 reports published and broadcast throughout the world said that Premier Mussolini of Italy had been shot twice while reviewing troops about to leave for the Russian front. Nine days later Mussolini did review troops leaving for the eastern front, and made a long speech."

Viscount Bennett Works In Cocked Hat

LONDON (CP) — Viscount Bennett performed his first official duty since entering the House of Lords when he was on a three-man royal commission today to signify royal assent to a number of acts.

From the ministry of supply, where he is helping Lord Beaverbrook, the former Canadian Prime Minister went to the House of Lords to sit with Viscount Simon, Lord Chancellor, and Lord Darnley on a red leather bench for the ceremony before the Lords adjourned.

In scarlet and gold robes and black cocked hats, Lords Bennett and Darnley were on either side of Lord Simon who, as Lord Chancellor—the only one of the three who talked—told the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod to summon the Commons.

'HATS OFF'

Cries of "hats off strangers" resounded along the corridors as the usher went and returned with the members of the Lower House.

Bowing three times to the commissioners and receiving an acknowledging raise of the cocked hats, the commoners standing under the gallery heard Lord Simon say that the King, "not thinking it fit" to be present personally, had caused the commission to be issued. A white-wigged clerk read from crumpled parchment the document containing the commission.

After Lord Simon informed the peers and commoners that the royal assent had been given, the clerk read the names of each act while another clerk on the opposite side of the table addressed to the Commons "le roi le veult"—the ancient French expression signifying the King's will—and bowed to the commissioners.

Woman Gets Big Fish

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — The first spring salmon caught in the Port Alberni district this year, a 42-pound tyee, was landed by Mrs. McAfee last night. Many springs have been caught a few miles down Alberni Canal during the past few days.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning sign and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, which quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

'SWANEE RIVER' ON YORK SCREEN

The ancient stern-wheeler Capt. Weber is earning more money today as a "movie star" than she ever did during her heyday as a passenger and freight carrier.

The veteran river boat, built in 1892, may be seen playing an important part in "Swanee River," story of Stephen C. Foster, 20th Century-Fox Technicolor production currently at the York Theatre.

Today her decks carry such celebrities as Don Ameche, Andrea Leeds and Al Jolson and a new aura of romance surrounds her, as she helps the studio recall the charm of those colorful days of river boats and minstrels.

MESQUITEER TRIO IN RIO PICTURE

Hey, western fans—your favorite film heroes, those hard-riding, hard-shooting Three Mesquiteers, are back in town!

Yep, their latest picture, Republic's "Prairie Pioneers," at the Rio Theatre, where it is now playing, and sets new records in thrills and entertainment. Little wonder this trio is one of the most popular in films!

In "Prairie Pioneers," the Mesquiteers are seen as scouts leading settlers into the new state of California.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Since Patti McCarty resigned as Dorothy Lamour's secretary to accept a movie contract, Dorothy, who is appearing currently with Bob Hope at the Capitol Theatre in her latest Paramount picture, "Caught in the Draft," is being flooded by applicants.

So far, over 5,000 have applied for the job. One was from India, one from England, and one from a prisoner in a California penitentiary. It pays to be an attractive boss.

DOMINION THEATRE

Draped around the eye-filling figure of Alice Faye, the humble bath towel may achieve the fame of the sarong.

In the introductory scene of her latest 20th Century-Fox film, "The Great American Broadcast," at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow, Miss Faye starts her co-stars, John Payne, Jack Oakie and Cesar Romero by appearing in a large bath towel.

Both Kenneth Macgowan, the associate producer, and Director Archie Mayo, believe Miss Faye's appearance attractively entangled, will do much to popularize the humble towel—even as lovely Alice has made into hit tunes those songs she sings in her films.

'THE LONG VOYAGE HOME' AT OAK BAY

One of the biggest storms in Hollywood since "The Hurricane," when they had to stick the extras' wigs on with rubber cement to keep them from blowing away when the wind machines cut loose, was recently staged at the Walter Wanger Studios. It was an ocean storm, having to do with a tramp steamer laden with T.N.T., bound for the war zone. St. Glencair was the setting for this storm which occurred during production of "The Long Voyage Home," filmed from Eugene O'Neill's famous sea plays and currently on view at the Oak Bay Theatre through United Artists release.

'VIRGINIA' IS CADET OFFERING

Smoothly blending stirring drama and bright comedy, Paramount's new Technicolor production, "Virginia," will be presented today at the Cadet Theatre, with Madeleine Carroll and Fred McMurtry in the starring roles. Featuring Stirling Hayden, young screen newcomer, in an important role, the picture tells the exciting story of a modern southern girl, reared in the north, who comes face to face with the problem of having to choose between the north and the south, romantically speaking.

'GREAT DICTATOR' SHOWING AT ATLAS

In the three-ring circus that Charlie Chaplin brings to the screen in "The Great Dictator," now at the Atlas Theatre, there are many events that would constitute news in any language.

Charlie has wandered far and looked deep into the heart for his laughter. Where he got the Oceana Roll in "The Gold Rush," the pantomimed David and Goliath sermon in "The Pilgrim," or the corn-feeding ordeal in "Modern Times," no one knows. They have the smell and the flavor of humankind.

In the long catalogue of surprises and comedy inventions, Chaplin perpetrates a masterful travesty on an easily recognized ruler.

N.B. Walton In Town

C.N.R. Expects Steady Ship Steel Delivery

Delivery of steel for shipbuilding in Victoria and other British Columbia yards should come along steadily from now on, in the opinion of N. B. Walton, vice-president in charge of operation, maintenance and construction, Canadian National Railways, who reached the city this morning from Montreal.

With him is W. R. Devenish, general manager, western region, Winnipeg.

Mr. Walton displayed interest in industrial development here, particularly in the shipbuilding activity preliminary to the laying of keels at local shipyards.

Steel being used in the construction of these 9,300-tonners is being shipped over Canadian National lines from the east, ferried across the gulf from Port Mann and the cars rolled into the shipyard sidings from the outer harbor slip.

Shipbuilding steel will now be delivered steadily, barring unlooked-for setbacks, Mr. Walton said. The C.N.R., he added, can be relied upon to give prompt delivery of the material to keep the shipyards, once the organization is complete, at high pressure.

Industry out here is humming at such a tune that Mr. Walton decided to come to the coast to check up on the greatly-increased business being handled by the company.

Shipment of Vancouver Island and B.C. mainland lumber by transcontinental lines for export to Great Britain has been actively resumed, the railway executive stated.

"As ships are made available on the Atlantic, this lumber movement will continue steadily," he said. "To meet this business we sent new flatcars, part of a new order for equipment, right out to the coast here before the paint was dry on them. Just as the builders turned them over to us we dispatched them west."

Both freight and passenger business handled by Canadian National at the present time is the highest on record since the peak of several years ago, states Mr. Walton.

"And it looks as if it will continue," he added. "We are particularly pleased with the business we are handling in British Columbia."

Semitropical Fish Migrating to B.C.

NANAIMO—The staff of the Pacific Biological Station, Departure Bay, three miles north of here, this year are classifying and cataloguing more semitropical fish than have ever been received at the station before. A theory of one of the officials at the station is that the southeast gales which were prevalent two years ago were responsible for bringing to the waters of the west coast of the island many fish whose usual habitat is in the warmer waters of the gulf.

Inspector A. Park of the Fisheries Department, this week brought to the station a "ribbon fish" or king of the salmon, being one of two caught at Nootka. These are the only specimens ever caught on this coast, the station having one which had been brought from the Atlantic coast, and considered a rare catch, even there.

Another rare specimen brought by the inspector is a rag fish, caught by fishermen at the Killdon Cannery, Barkley Sound. Barracuda are plentiful this year on the west coast, and many sun fish are included in the semitropical specimens brought here for classification. Sharks of all kinds are also reported as being more plentiful than ever known before on the west coast.

Finnish Sequel

Survivors Planned to Seize Rescue Ship

By the Canadian Press
Survivors of the Belgian freighter Mercier, torpedoed in mid-Atlantic, told newsmen in Canada they had planned to mutiny and seize control of the ship that rescued them.

Three days after they were picked up by a Finnish boat the men said, Finland declared war on Soviet Russia. Fearing the ship might put back to her home port, the 45 torpedoed victims seriously discussed seizing control of the vessel and sailing her for Canada.

But their fears were groundless—the little freighter continued on her way and dropped them at Norfolk, Virginia.

Only three Canadians were among the survivors, Stanley Gabriel of Glace Bay, N.S., Leo Steele of Halifax, and an unidentified third now in England. Belgian and English sailors comprised the rest of the crew.

Gabriel, a fireman aboard the torpedoed ship, thinks the boat was jinxed from the moment it left England. They made the crossing safely, but had the misfortune to dock at a port that was being blitzed.

One night the dock where the ship was anchored caught fire, the flames spreading to the freighter. Quickly the crew took to the lifeboats, leaving seven or eight aboard to battle the blaze. After that scorching they headed for Canada, Gabriel said, only to stop two torpedoed in mid-Atlantic. In 10 minutes the ship sank, the crew piling off in lifeboats.

The captain and six of the crew went down with the ship, Gabriel recounted, and as she was sinking the captain, in a gesture of a "thumbs-up" farewell, tooted the whistle four times.

Seven days later they were picked up after existing on one hard biscuit and 10 teaspoons of water a day.

Greek Ship Sunk By Axis Planes

NEW YORK (AP)—The 3,574-ton Greek freighter Kapetan Stratis, one of the marine links in Britain's line of supply, has been sunk in the North Atlantic, marine sources said today.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks tried to crawl out of the doghouse today — on average the market had been unchanged or lower since July 28—but many leaders were unsuccessful. Intervals of activity were succeeded by exceptionally slack periods.

Among stocks reaching new 1941 highs were American Woolen common and preferred.

Occasional advances were posted for Santa Fe, Goodrich, Goodyear, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, Fajardo Sugar, Du Pont, J. C. Penney and Westinghouse.

Canadian stocks were higher. Dome and Distillers Seagram each gained 1/4 and McIntyre 1/4 while Lake Shore lost 1/4.

Gibbon Runs About on Two Legs

"Wahoo! Wahoo!" That is what gibbons call out at the break of day. The sound echoes through the woods. Perhaps a dozen of the animals call it, or shout it, in a chorus. Just what "wahoo" means to them, I cannot say. Maybe it is their way of saying "Good morning!"

White-haired pet Gibbon with a Siamese boy.

A gibbon is an ape, and like other apes it doesn't have a tail. It is found wild in islands of the East Indies, also in certain parts of southern Asia. Siam, or Thailand, is one of the places on the mainland of Asia where there are many gibbons.

For the most part, gibbons live in trees. Clinging to branches with the hands at the end of their long arms, they are experts at travelling from branch to branch. In the forests of Sumatra there are gibbons which can make 30 or 40 feet in a swing from one branch to another!

The gibbon is the smallest member of the ape family. It seldom is more than three feet tall.

Gibbons stay in trees most of the time, but it is possible for them to run along the ground. I have watched one of them run; he sped along on two legs.

A gorilla can walk on two legs, but does not have so much skill in this field as a gibbon. While walking or running, a gibbon keeps himself in balance by stretching out his arms, or by placing his hands behind his neck.

Some gibbons do not cry "Wahoo!" at dawn. Instead they shout "Hoo-lock!" Such gibbons live in Thailand and Sumatra, and have the special name of "Hoo-locks." When they cry out in chorus, we might almost think they were singing. They have their chorus at sunset as well as at dawn.

Gibbons live chiefly on plant food. They are fond of fruit and also eat young shoots. Now and then they invade the nests of birds, and eat the little ones. A gibbon swinging through the air has been known to capture a bird on the wing.

Gibbons are shy, and usually keep away from people. Yet they make good pets when they are captured. They are gentle, and will not attack their masters.

Most gibbons have black or grey fur. The fur of some of them turns white as they grow older.

HOROSCOPE

AUGUST 8
Good and evil appear balanced in the forecast for today. Legal and professional affairs are favored. Advertising and publicity of all kinds should prove beneficial. It is a good time to reorganize household duties. Amusements may be costly and entertainingly disappointing. The seers foresee a round-up of subversive groups within Canada. Financial matters may be greatly disrupted. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a conservative year. Children born on this day may be talented and extravagant.

Red Cross Notes

EMPIRE HELPED
As a member of the British Empire Canada's Red Cross has contributed money, stores and equipment to the British Red Cross to whom its supplies are always open, and since the beginning of 1941 has relieved Britain of the burden of providing, packing and shipping weekly food parcels for 10,000 British prisoners of war. It has contributed money and comforts to the British Navy League, to societies for the aid of the mercantile marine and seamen and to the distressed families of these men. It has distributed millions of articles—garments, food and bedding—from its warehouses to the bombed victims of London and the United Kingdom.

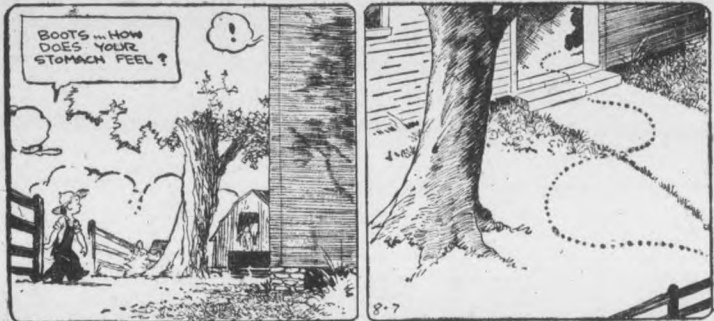

Until the Canadian troops go into action, Red Cross first call is to aid the victims of the cruel bombing raids on Britain. All reports reaching Canada have shown that the food and clothing which we have been able to provide have been of inestimable value in maintaining the morale of the British people, who have won the admiration of the world by their courage and endurance.

Meat and Bread Prices Give Controllers Headache

By R. K. CARNEGIE
OTTAWA (CP) — Because Canadians buy so much bread and meat these items have a big effect on the cost of living in the Dominion, and controlling their price range is the major problem before the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as it tries to prevent inflation, officials said today.

Each month the Bureau of Statistics issues a cost of living index, and any advance in the price of bread, combined with recent jumps in the price of meat, would be a serious setback for the board's anti-inflation efforts, they said.

Meat presents the greatest difficulty. When he was asked what the board proposed to do about meat, one spokesman asked a question in return: "How would it be possible to regulate the retail prices of meat?"

DIFFERENCE IN SPREAD

"In peacetime there was often a spread of from 5 to 10 cents a pound between what one butcher would charge for meat of a certain cut as compared with his competitor in the same city," he said. "The quality of the meat, the service, the demands of a butcher's customers all enter into it."

"A butcher whose customers demand the high-priced cuts has to get more for them since he has to sell low-priced parts of the carcass at a lower price than a butcher in the poorer district whose customers are looking for the cheaper meat.

"What we are doing is to see that the spread between what the packer pays the farmer and what he charges the retail butcher is in line with the spread before the war. We are convinced that the bulk of the increase in meat prices is going back to the farmer."

COMPLAINTS POUR IN

Complaints were pouring in on the board, this official said, about the price of meat, but he said it was doubtful if the country as a whole would object to the farmers getting more for their produce in view of the scanty returns he got in past years, the present labor shortage, drought and higher costs of the goods he had to buy.

Bread was somewhat easier to handle. The government had operated by dropping the processing tax of 15 cents a bushel on wheat ground into flour for domestic consumption. The board had taken steps designed to cut bakers' selling costs and might go as far as to stop house-to-house delivery, leaving all the selling of bread to the retail stores.

musical comedies at their highest, purest and incomparable. The man in the street is asked, and himself asks, why has all this beautiful and enchanting music (Sullivan's excepted) been put on the shelf and replaced by a lot of wishy-washy class of music, much of it suitable for a third-rate dance hall?

Has not the time arrived for a higher conception of the people's common music in better terms and from purer sources?

Can I appeal to our local bandmasters, music teachers, choirs, to be just a little less continental-minded and recognize heartily the works of the lighter and much more pleasing productions? In case any of your readers may have forgotten the titles of some of the musical comedies, I append a few: "Floradora," "Gaiety Girl," "Country Girl," "The Geisha Girl," "Dorothy," "Merry England," "Belle of New York," "Chimes of Normandy," "Maid of the Mountains," etc.

WHEN CHILDREN STAMMER

I was very much interested in reading the article "When Children Stammer, What Can We Do?" in your issue of July 30, more especially because you have published articles of mine on several occasions on various aspects of speech training.

I need hardly say that as a teacher of speech, myself trained in London, I have kept in touch with the latest developments in speech therapy, and it is particularly gratifying to find that a teacher like Miss Crickmay, who has specialized in London in remedial speech training, so completely endorses all that I have found to be true in my own experience here during the last 16 years.

The Victoria City School Board is to be congratulated upon its vision in engaging the services of a qualified speech therapist, who has knowledge of anatomy, biology, neurology, psychology and kindred subjects, combined with clinical experience, to diagnose and treat stammering, which is a nervous disorder.

The psychological aspect of the whole question of speech defects is precisely the one which my experience in the one which has led me to stress more and more. Fear of speech must be overcome, and the child must be given confidence.

There is only one point on which I am not in full agreement with Miss Crickmay, and that is in the use of such material as clever nonsense rhymes. In practice I have often found these to be very useful, because children instinctively enjoy rhythm, and so come to associate pleasure with speaking. Instead of fear.

I detest "quackery" as much as anyone, but I should hesitate to apply this term to any treatment that has been used with marked success in giving relief to any sufferer from this embarrassing nervous trouble.

PEPTIC ULCERS FOR OUR TROOPS

A press dispatch from Ottawa says there has not been found the "reason for the comparatively large number of peptic ulcer cases" among the Canadian soldiers returning from overseas medically unfit.

Editor A. G. Nicholls, M.D., D.Sc., F.R.S.C., F.R.C.P. (C.), in an editorial in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, has something to say about this.

"It is debatable, perhaps, whether smoking increases the acidity of the gastric content and therefore may be expected to increase the tendency to develop or aggravate peptic ulcer; there is much evidence in favor of this view," he states.

"In the light of this we may well consider whether it is well to deluge our fighting forces with cigarettes. We deny tobacco to our athletes in training on the ground that its use lessens stamina. Would it not be better, from a medical standpoint at all events, to substitute malted milk tablets, glucose confections and chocolate bars?"

As Dr. Nicholls says, this is worth thinking over.

GOOD VS. EVIL

Malcolm Cowley, quoted by Bruce Hutchison, is the son of a New Churchman—Dr. Will Cowley of Pittsburgh. He would know that there is a basis in Divine Revelation for saying, "the world is coming to believe in the power of good because it has suddenly learned in this war the terrible power of evil." Mr. Hutchison agrees with him. Where they both miss the mark is in supposing a mere rational conclusion to this effect can possibly have any lasting good effect.

Sport Shorts From Britain

LONDON (CP)—A bad ankle, the result of army boots and training on hard tracks, may spoil Sydney Wooderson's chances of trying to better his world record for the mile run. Wooderson hoped to go after the record at Glasgow this month but, after limping in fourth in a services meet at Epsom, it was doubtful whether he will run again this season.

Corporal A. Little of the Royal Air Force won the mile at Epsom in the fastest time run in Great Britain this year, 4:23.07 minutes. Little, who had trained for the 880 yards, was in the dressing-room having a leg massaged when that event was called and missed the race.

"I'll win the mile instead," he said. And he did.

Eighteen-year-old Jean Nicol, who played on the famous centre court at Wimbledon in the 1939 all-English championships, is Britain's tennis find of the war. A natural player, she promises to play an important part in England's postwar tennis plans.

In her 1939 match, Miss Nicol lost to Kay Stammers who advanced to the final of the women's singles where she was beaten by Alice Marble of the United States. Jean and Kay, now Mrs. Menzies, met again recently in a charity match and this time the tables were reversed, Jean winning a one-set match 9-7.

'Bake Your Own'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A "bake your own bread" campaign may be sponsored by the Housewives League of British Columbia if bread prices continue to increase, according to Mrs. G. Greenwood, league president.

"We would regret very much having to take this step," Mrs. Greenwood said, "as a back-to-the-oven movement is not the idea of progress in a modern world with all its facilities for mass production."

The Housewives League also is concerned over increases in butter prices, she said, and believes the Wartime Prices and Trade Board "should be immediately augmented by representatives from labor and from consumers, as is done on the similar board in the United States."

WHY NOT THE OLD FAVORITES?

With reference to the letter of our local well-known musical composer John Rowland, I should like to add my humble support towards a revival of some of the high class and popular songs which delighted our ears a generation or two ago. I mean songs from the musical comedies, a mixture of light drama in story and light opera in music. In fact, Gilbert and Sullivan's operas are
